PREFACE

THIS Eighth Report in most particulars deals only with events since the Report of the 30th year, published in 1925.

It is based upon the questionnaires which you have answered this year correlated with your previous disclosures. Though the Secretary has knowledge of a fact which you do not disclose, he omits it from the Report. He has not drawn inferences from your silences or attempted to fill the gaps in your confidences. Therefore, it may appear that some of you are bigamists or even polygamists because you have advised the Secretary of recent marriages without informing him of the disposition of former wives.

The Publications, Births, Marriages and Deaths, listed in the back of this volume, are only those which have occurred since 1925. The lists of Grandchildren, living and deceased, and of Harvard Sons include all of whom the Secretary has information. For convenience the Class List is brought forward from the Thirtieth Report, revised for changes of the last five years.

The Secretary's former assistant, Miss Jean Olmstead, now Mrs. Edward K. Nash, whose interest in the Class and every member of the Class has never abated, has compiled this Report.

FREDERIC H. NASH

CLASS LIST

THIS is a list of all who have at any time been connected with the Class of 1895. A name in SMALL CAPITALS indicates that the man is on the Secretary's active mailing list. The names in ordinary type consist of: First, those for whom the Secretary has no address; and Second, those who have been at one time connected with 1895, but who have become affiliated with other classes. Italics indicate death; a star preceding a date indicates the year of death. A degree of A.B. or S.B. out of course is written in parentheses. A degree without a date means that it was received in 1895. The superior numeral 1, 2, 3 or 4, printed before a name, indicates entrance into the Class in the corresponding year out of course. The superior letter a, b, c or d, printed after a name, indicates withdrawal from the Class in or at the end of the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior or Senior year respectively.

CLASS RECORDS

"I cannot tell how the truth may be;
I say the tale as 'twas said to me."

TRUMAN ABBE

Married: Ethel Whipple Brown at Providence, R. I., April 22, 1905. Children: Truman Waldo, June 10, 1906; Petrena, Feb. 12, 1909; Gilbert, March 29, 1910; Margaret, Dec. 20, 1913; William Whipple, Sept. 23, 1923.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: (home) 3737 Huntington St., Washington, D. C.; (business) Stoneleigh Court, Washington, D. C.

ABBE has lost faith in all mankind, but particularly in Class Secretaries. He should have realized that the Secretary's promise of five years ago not to produce another Report until the "Fiftieth" was only a means to an end. The suggestion that he might have retired during the past five years added to his sense of grievance.

"No, indeed!" he says. "Am just starting in. Or rather, am still trying to cut my own throat by keeping people well.

"Harvey Wiley says, 'The diseases of childhood are ushered in with flags flying and the band playing. The diseases of middle life creep on us unawares like a thief in the night. We wake up to find our prizes of a lifetime just disappearing out of the window. And it's up to us M. D.'s, if we can, to warn of the approaching thief and discount his approach by getting an annual health statement from each member of the community.' Yes, I confess, Wiley said only part of it, but he meant the rest."

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

EDWARD MAX ADAMS

Married: Mary Rose Oakley at Hamburg, N. Y., June 23, 1900.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 170 Union St., Hamburg, N. Y.; (business) West Ave. and School St., Buffalo, N. Y.

OUR “jolly old pedagogue” still finds life as uneventful as ever. The only item of interest that occurred to him was that he hadn't been married since 1900.

IVERS SHEPARD ADAMS

Married: Mrs. Evelyn Littleton Nields at Boston, Mass., April 16, 1927.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: 512 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

MUST the epitaph be written for one honest angler? Instead of his customary Report, — “O. K. Salmon fishing and shooting” — Adams merely notes: “Married Mrs. Evelyn L. Nields, April 16, 1927, Boston, Mass.”

TIMOTHY FIELD ALLEN

Married: Isabelle Woodford at Winsted, Conn., Sept. 28, 1897.

Children: Elisabeth Fairchild, Feb. 12, 1899; Timothy Field, Jr., Nov. 17, 1900; John Woodford, Nov. 17, 1903.

Occupation: Stockbroker.

Address: (home) Lawrence Park, Bronxville, N. Y.; (business) 100 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

TIMOTHY ALLEN has rather dropped behind in the Class Grandfather competition. He says:

“I have only one grandchild to report this time — Elisabeth Fairchild Luckey, who was born on May 13, 1928. However, I have not given up hope of further claimants, for my youngest son has been married since our last Report.

“Nothing else in particular has happened to me. I am still in the Stock Exchange brokerage business, and am senior partner of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Thomas L. Manson & Co."

CLASS RECORDS

WINTHROP AMES

Married: Lucy Fuller at London, England, Sept. 28, 1911. Children: Catherine Hobart, Aug. 14, 1919; Joan, July 14, 1923.

Occupation: Trustee and Theatrical Producer.

Address: (home) North Easton, Mass.; (business) 244 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.

SINCE our last Report, Ames' efforts toward retirement have met with partial success. Last year he retired from active producing, but as he still conducts two theatres, and has other continuing theatrical interests, he cannot yet say that he has "retired from business". Upon the occasion of his semi-retirement, one eminent journal seized the opportunity to indulge in a biographical sketch. Most of this material the Secretary is reserving for a more suitable occasion, but he cannot resist quoting one paragraph:

"Other things that interest him in addition to the theatre are music, and drawing plans for houses that he talks about building but never does. He is particularly fond of drawing bathhouses and hunting lodges. He has also invented a fictitious hobby to describe to people who ask him what his hobby is. He says that he has a mania for picking up pins — that he walks down the street looking for them, and when he sees one struggles vainly against the temptation to get hold of it. He elaborates this with the statement that his mania ceases to dominate him only when he goes into a dressmaking shop where pins are plentiful. Telling this story fills him with a glee which he seldom manages to conceal successfully. He has never picked up a pin in his life."

Alack, alas! Just as the Report is going to press, word is received from Ames that he will not be with us this June. He, too, has heard the siren's call and has gone out to Hollywood to direct a "talkie."

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

HENRY EDWIN ANDREWS

Occupation: Professor and Museum Director.

Address: Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.

ANDREWS' sabbatical, to which he was looking forward with so much pleasure five years ago, finally occurred during the summer and early winter of 1927. Most of the time he spent in Europe. He is now back at his permanent job of directing the Museum of Fine Arts at Bowdoin College.

EDMUND KENT ARNOLD

Married: Pearl Butler at Lexington, Mass., June 27, 1901. Children: Lois, Nov. 3, 1902; Marie, Oct. 26, 1904; Rosamund, July 13, 1908; Richard, May 17, 1912 (died Oct. 9, 1914).

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 12 Gloucester St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 10 State St., Boston, Mass.

ARNOLD took a pleasure trip abroad with his wife and youngest daughter during the summer of 1925. Otherwise he says, the past five years have been uneventful. He forgets to mention the advent of three charming grandchildren, one of whom has already shown signs that the name given him at birth was not misplaced.

CHARLES EDWARD BACON

Married: Pauline Conant at Boston, Mass., May 29, 1917.

Occupation: Publisher.

Address: (home) Hotel Somerset, Boston, Mass.; (business) 50 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

THE record for mileage covered during the past five years goes to Charles Bacon. He says:

“In 1927 Mrs. Bacon and I took a trip around the world, which was very interesting to me because of the great changes since my last visit to the Orient, some fifteen years ago, before the advent of the automobile there. On reaching Europe on this trip, we visited Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and

CLASS RECORDS

Hungary to see these new countries in operation. Last year we took a motor trip through France, where we covered more than three thousand miles — England, Wales and Ireland.”

NEWTON SAMUEL BACON

Married: Anne Rogers Dustin at Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 6, 1902.

Children: Margaret, May 11, 1904; Roger Dustin, June 9, 1907.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: 3 Hurlbut St., Cambridge, Mass.

NEWTON BACON's chief interest during the past five years has been his son, Roger, who was graduated from Harvard with the Class of 1929. "Watching his progress," Bacon says, "has brought back much of my own college days. He entered the Harvard Business School last year.

"My daughter, Margaret, has been teaching Physical Training for four years, the last two in Brookline, Mass. Mrs. Bacon and I both enjoy good health, and are interested in public health and welfare."

NEWELL ALVIN BARKER

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: St. John's Military School, Salina, Kan.

BARKER is still associated with St. John's Military School at Salina, Kansas, where he has been since 1919. He writes: "My interest in school work, to which I have devoted my life, continues as strong as ever."

FREDERIC HUNTINGTON BARTLETT

Married: Carolyn Hastings Peck, Jan. 28, 1899 (died June 28, 1899); Eleanor Brooks Pearson at Brookline, Mass., June 10, 1902 (died Nov. 15, 1909); Elise von den Heuvel at New York, N. Y., March 6, 1915; Isabelle Reid Woolley, at Martha's Vineyard, Mass., Sept. 11, 1923. Children: Phyllis Brooks, March 16, 1905; Frederic Pearson, Nov. 15, 1909.

Occupation: Physician.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Address: (home) 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 8 East 66th St., New York, N. Y.

ALTHOUGH this Report is supposed to cover only the years 1925 to 1930, an exception must be made in Frederic Bartlett's case. He was not heard from five years ago.

"On Sept. 11, 1923," he now writes, "I was married to Isabelle Reid Woolley, at Martha's Vineyard, Mass. During the past ten years I have continued to practice my profession in New York City. In addition to my private practice, I find time to act as director of the Children's Service of the Fifth Avenue Hospital."

GEORGE GRIFFITHS BARTLETT

Married: Cecilia Helen Neall at Chestnut Hill, Pa., May 9, 1905.
Children: Emily, Aug. 24, 1906, Edward Totterson, April 2, 1908; George Neall, May 31, 1912.

Occupation: Professor and Dean.

Address: 42nd and Spruce St., Philadelphia, Pa.

BARTLETT's duties as Dean of the Episcopal Divinity School of Philadelphia have finally permitted of his taking a vacation. "I was granted a year's leave of absence in October 1928," he says. "From then until September 1929, my wife and I were abroad, spending our time in England, France, Switzerland and Italy.

"My two children were both graduated from college last June,—Edward from Harvard and Emily from Smith. My son was married in September to Miss Florence Creech of Cleveland, Ohio."

HARRY ALBERT BATHRICK

Children: Frances Slade, Nov. 2, 1900.

Occupation: School Superintendent.

Address: (home) 1906 East 84th St., Cleveland, Ohio; (business) Board of Education, Cleveland, Ohio.

PROMOTIONS continue to haunt Bathrick's path. He is now assistant superintendent of schools in Cleveland. He is also president of the Northeastern Ohio Teachers' Association.

CLASS RECORDS

ITHAMAR MANSUR BEARD

Married: Eva Winifred Rorty at Great Neck, L. I., June 21, 1916.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: Longmeadow School, Longmeadow, Mass.

BEARD is still conducting the school at Longmeadow, Mass., that he started in 1923.

HENRY CHAUNCEY BEECHER

Married: Luella King Gorham at Athenia, N. J., Sept. 18, 1894.

Children: David (Chauncey) Gorham, April 1, 1897; Dorothy King, Dec. 21, 1898.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) Budd Lake, N. J.; (business) Prudential Building, Newark, N. J.

ALL small favors gratefully received. To the "Nothing" which adorned his report, Beecher affixed an exclamation point.

CHARLES FRANCIS DORR BELDEN

Married: Anna Marion Blackwell at Cambridge, Mass., May 26, 1908. Children: Elizabeth Blackwell, Dec. 20, 1909; Lawrence Putnam, Jan. 1, 1913; Alison Blackwell, March 6, 1914; Charles Hastings, Oct. 3, 1918.

Occupation: Librarian.

Address: (home) 52 Eliot St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.; (business) Boston Public Library, Boston, Mass.

BELDEN's report was not received until the last minute, but it was worth waiting for.

"My professional life since the last Class Report," he begins, "has been a busy one, both in Boston and afield. I was reappointed in 1925 by the Governor of the Commonwealth for my fourth five-year term as chairman of the Board of Free Public Library Commissioners.

"In 1925 I had the honor of being elected president of the American Library Association for its Fiftieth Anniversary Year. I attended the June meeting of the Association at Seattle for induction into office. It was the first time that a librarian of the Boston Public Library has been elected president since the year of its organization, when Justin Winsor served as president. Glacier National Park and Mt. Rainier National Park were visited during my stay in the West. I returned by the Canadian Pacific, visiting Lake Louise and Banff en route.

“In October 1926, the anniversary meeting of the American Library Association was held at Atlantic City, where I had the privilege of presiding for a week at the largest meeting the Association ever held. In addition to the regular members from the United States and Canada, the Association was honored by delegates from twenty-three foreign countries. Following the conference, I arranged for a visit of the foreign delegates to Boston and vicinity as a part of their tour of the important cities and libraries of the East. I was made an honorary member of the Library Associations of China and Czecho-Slovakia during the year. In June 1926, I received an honorary A. M. from Harvard University.

“In 1927 it was my privilege to attend the Fiftieth Anniversary Meeting of the British Library Association held in Edinburgh. Prior to attending the meeting I spent some days in Paris, followed by motor trips through Normandy and Brittany. In England I had delightful days by motor in Cornwall and Devonshire. I also motored from London to York with the foreign delegates to the Edinburgh library meeting. I had the honor to lecture at the University of London and before the Swiss Library Association at Lausanne, to which I flew from London, via Paris.

“In 1929 I was one of the fifteen official delegates from America to the First International Conference of Librarians and Bibliographers held for a week in Rome, followed by sessions in Florence, Venice, Medina and Milan. I had the opportunity of hearing and meeting Mussolini and being presented to the King of Italy and to Pope Pius XI. I spent considerable time in the Vatican Library, and was particularly interested in the developments that had been carried out with the aid of members of the American Library Association and the Vatican authorities. I motored from Rome to Florence via the hill-towns and Pisa. A week in Switzerland was followed by visits to Paris, Canterbury, Rochester, London, Lincoln and Old Boston."

Since writing the above, Belden has been decorated with the Order of the Crown of Italy — this for his interest in Italian art and literature and the part he has had in promoting library development overseas.

ASA WHITE KENNEY BILLINGS

Married: Edna Peabody at New York, N. Y., Dec. 17, 1900.

Children: Asa White Kenney, Jr., Sept. 20, 1901.

Occupation: Engineer.

Address: (permanent) 357 Bay St., Toronto, Ont.; (business) Caixa do Correio 2444, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

LAST year Tufts College conferred upon Billings the honorary degree of "Electrical Engineer". It is about time he received some recognition for the extraordinary work he is doing in Mexico and Brazil.

"I have continued at the same job," he writes us, "building hydro-electric plants. In the last eight years, I have built seven plants in Mexico and Brazil (totalling 338,000 H. P. installed or 1,100,000 H. P. ultimate capacity) and find the work as interesting and absorbing as ever."

NORMAN WILLINGS BINGHAM, Jr.

Married: Ethel Prescott Stetson at Bangor, Me., Feb. 23, 1904.

Children: Katharine Stetson, June 12, 1905; Elizabeth, April 29, 1909; Eleanor, Oct. 18, 1912; Mary, July 19, 1916.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 125 Prince St., West Newton, Mass.; (business) 1 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

THE Secretary doesn't know whether to be grateful or sorry that the rest of the Class hasn't followed Bingham's example.

"I have decided," he writes, "that the best way to get along in life is to adopt the slogan of an old sea-captain acquaintance of mine — to wit: 'If I was to say anything, I might say something, so I guess I won't say nothing.'"

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

WILLIAM MARSHALL BLACK

Married: Lucile Watkins at Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 2, 1903.

Children: George Putnam Watkins, July 4, 1905; Mildred, Aug. 27, 1907; William Marshall, Jr., Sept. 11, 1911.

Occupation: Educator.

Address: (home) 400 Madison St., Lynchburg, Va.; (business) Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg, Va.

BLACK has never been able to get back for a Class Reunion. If he can induce one of his grandchildren to wheel him around, he thinks that possibly he may be able to make the Sixtieth.

"My duties as assistant to the president of Randolph-Macon have prevented my appearance so far," he says. "However, I still live in hopes.

"Nothing of especial interest has happened to me since our last Report. I am still superintendent of a Sunday School, sing in a Church Choir and am a member of the Board of Stewards. I play golf regularly, my game getting a little worse each year."

Kinsley Blodgett

Occupation: Clergyman.

Died: Navesink, N. J., Dec. 17, 1929.

KINSLEY BLODGETT died at Navesink, N. J., on December 17, 1929. He was a clergyman and had served as rector of Trinity Church, at Mento Park, Calif., and of St. Mark's Church, at Worcester, Mass. Of recent years, however, the Secretary had rather lost track of him. He was born at Pawtucket, R. I., on February 3, 1874, the son of William W. and Salome W. (Kinsley) Blodgett, and prepared at the Pawtucket High School.

FREDERICK DeWOLF BOLMAN

Married: Florence Louise Tullock at Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 24, 1906. Children: Katherine Southwick, Feb. 11, 1908; Frederick DeWolf, Jr., June 30, 1912.

Occupation: Lumber Merchant.

Address: (home) 624 S. Broadway, Leavenworth, Kan.; (business) 611 Cherokee St., Leavenworth, Kan.

CLASS RECORDS

No need to ask Bolman what he considers to be the best investment he ever made. His letter:

“My principal interest since our last Report has been to help guide and to watch the development of a daughter, who in these five years has gone through Smith and spent one year with the Smith Group in France; and a son who is now at the Hill School at Pottstown, Pa., and who will enter Harvard in 1931. That will be a proud moment in my life.”

AUGUSTUS JOSEPH BOYDEN

Married: Frances Pendleton Waggener at Austin, Tex., Dec. 31, 1908. Children: Catherine, May 8, 1912; Martha, May 8, 1915; Mary Lydia, June 23, 1917.

Occupation: Stockbroker.

Address: (home) 6 Central St., Winchester, Mass.; (business) 15 State St., Boston, Mass.

AND the prince and princess . . . Boyden's report reads like a fairy tale:

“Lived happily with my wife and three children. The children are girls, the oldest a freshman at Vassar, the two younger in the Winchester public schools.”

CHARLES WYATT BOYDEN

Married: Sarah Annie Boyden at Sheffield, Ill., Sept. 28, 1897.

Occupation: Banker.

Address: Sheffield, Ill.

“HAVE nothing unusual to report,” writes Boyden. What can you expect of a man who except for the period at Harvard has spent all his days in one spot?

HOMER BOYER

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 19 Ricker Rd., Newton, Mass.; (business) Country Day School, Newton, Mass.

HAVING nothing to say, Boyer was afraid to correspond with the Secretary direct. His niece supplies the information that he has moved from Winchester to Newton.

JOHN ALFRED BREWSTER

Married: Josephine Hurd at Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 23, 1913.

Occupation: Assistant Professor.

Address: (home) 728 West 181st St., New York, N. Y.; (business)
College of the City of New York, New York, N. Y.

BREWSTER is intensely interested in the new Harvard Residence Plan. He wonders if he will ever witness such a development in his own College.

“The past five years have marked no change in either my profession of teaching or place of teaching,” he says. “In fact, the only event of any importance was a motor trip across the United States to Los Angeles. From there we drove to Seattle, Duluth, down the Great Lakes to Buffalo, and finally home.”

Walter Kirkpatrick Brice

Occupation: Financier.

Died: New York, N. Y., March 13, 1926.

WALTER KIRKPATRICK BRICE prepared for College at St. Mark's School, and after taking his degree of A. B. cum laude, he returned to teach at St. Mark's, where he was a master for two years. He was later actively interested in the Department of Music at Harvard, and in 1910 he took the degree of LL.B. from the New York Law School and was admitted to the New York Bar.

When the Spanish American War broke out, he was making a trip around the world and had reached the Philippine Islands. He enlisted there in the United States Volunteer Engineers as First Lieutenant, 3rd Regiment, and acted as Aide to General Anderson. He later traveled very extensively in the Far East and in Europe, visiting the greater part of the civilized world, and studying conditions from the sociological standpoint. The broad outlook thus gained was of use to him in the philanthropic work to which he later devoted much of his time and fortune, and which interested him keenly up to the time of his death.

CLASS RECORDS

After his return to New York, Brice spent some time in the Morton Trust Company, to get a first-hand knowledge of banking and finance, in preparation for his later management of the family interests in gas and electric properties in Ohio. During the Great War, he was chairman of the committee on Army and Navy camp music and did a great deal toward supplying music here and abroad. He also sponsored the Community Chorus movement in New York and elsewhere. He believed in fostering musical talent wherever he found it and many a struggling artist was helped by him.

"Pat" Brice as he was familiarly and affectionately called, not only by his Classmates but by his whole Harvard generation, was a man of ability, possessed of mental powers decidedly above the average; and in other circumstances and surroundings, with greater incentive to work and to make the most of his talents, it is probable that he would have risen to a position of national prominence. He learned easily and readily mastered any subject to which he set his mind. He was capable of intense and sustained mental effort. His sense of humor was keen and dry, as those who were associated with him in the editorship of the Lampoon can testify. His interest in his fellow men, always apparent, increased and mellowed with age. The writer recalls after thirty-five years his bright, pleasant smile and hearty greetings to all callers at his room in Beck Hall. Though his social and financial status was above the average of the college student, he was democratic, modest and friendly. Throughout his life he was truly the philanthropist.

I do not doubt that many of his Classmates remember a speech that he made at one of the early Class reunions, probably the Decennial. When the dinner was well advanced, in a scene of noise, disorder and conviviality, he stood up and made a ringing speech which silenced everyone, and held the attention of all. His theme was the dignity of such an occasion, when a group of friends, after a long separation, meet together for a day or two, and how they ought to prize the opportunity to renew old friendships. Harvard retained its significance for him up to the day of his death.

FRITZ von BRIESEN

Married: Edwina Fay Fuller at New York, N. Y., June 21, 1905.
Children: Franziska, Dec. 28, 1907 (died Jan. 2, 1908); Gernda,
Aug. 22, 1909; Hans, Feb. 4, 1912.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 49 West 57th St., New York, N. Y.; (business)
50 Church St., New York, N. Y.

FIVE years ago von Briesen was threatening to settle down. There seems to be no prospect of it now. He writes:
“In 1926 I took my children on their first trip to Europe, showing them portions of France, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium, Holland and England. In 1927 I took my family on a Polar Cruise, visiting Iceland, Spitzbergen and Norway, and continuing the trip through Sweden, Denmark and Germany. In 1929 I traveled with my family in Germany, Sweden, Finland, Russia and Poland. My daughter, Gernda, entered Smith College with the class of 1932; my son, Hans, entered Harvard with the class of 1933.”

WALTER MOTHERWELL BRIGGS

Married: May Elizabeth Phillips at New York, N. Y., Jan. 11, 1899. Children: Morton Phillips, Nov. 30, 1899; Walter De Blois, Jan. 30, 1901; (one infant boy and two infant girls died).

Occupation: Treasurer, Rancher and Miner.

Address: Pleasanton, Alameda Co., Calif.

WALTER BRIGGS keeps cows on his ranch, but not stenographers. Consequently, when he has the ill luck to cut his right hand, his correspondence suffers.

“I shan’t be able to bore the Class at any length in this Report,” he says. “Am still much interested in breeding and raising fine cows — pure-bred Holsteins and Jerseys, and have about three hundred head. I also give some attention to developing my copper mines and keep in touch with certain engineering people who, for some unknown reason, have admitted me to membership (full) in the American Institute Mining & Metallurgical Engineers.”

CLASS RECORDS

WALTER Du BOIS BROOKINGS

Married: Marian Kinney at Claremont, Calif., Nov. 19, 1909 (died June 3, 1926); Martha Nutting Brooks at Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 27, 1929. Children: Robert Somers, 2d, June 27, 1912; Walter Du Bois, Jr., Nov. 12, 1914; Henry Nason Kinney, May 25, 1917; Mary MacIntosh, Dec. 17, 1922.

Occupation: Government Official.

Address: 1615 H St., Washington, D. C.

IT is difficult to believe that this is Brookings' "Thirty-fifth" Report and not his "First". He writes:

"I had quite a Harvard reunion at my wedding last August, when the following Harvard '95 men were present with their families: Dave Cassidy, Elliot Goodwin, Charlie French, Jimmie Emott and Bill Youngman.

"I have purchased the old homestead of Cassius Lee, first cousin of Robert E. Lee, a few miles outside of Washington in Virginia, near Alexandria. It was built in 1850. The family gets much pleasure out of our country life.

"My only publications to date have been numerous pamphlets and articles on subjects dealing with natural resources published by the United States Chamber of Commerce."

EARLE BROWN

Married: Mary Felton Sargent at Worcester, Mass., Sept. 21, 1907. Children: Edwin Sargent, Aug. 29, 1908; Earle, March 17, 1911 (died March 19, 1911); Earle, Nov. 5, 1912; Nancy Hacker, March 6, 1917.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 77 Elm St., Worcester, Mass.; (business) 946 Slater Building, Worcester, Mass.

EARLE BROWN's report is the model one of the group. It reads:

"Still living happily and contributing to the support of my family."

LINCOLN BRYANT

Married: Rose Standish Bryant at New Bedford, Mass., June 5, 1907. Children: Rose Lincoln, Oct. 29, 1908; Lincoln, Jr.,

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

May 2, 1911; John Winslow, May 8, 1914; Mary Luce, Jan. 2, 1916.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 149 Randolph Ave., Milton, Mass.; (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

BRYANT is uncertain whether it is a cause for congratulation or otherwise that he has nothing startling to report. The Secretary has no doubts at all in the matter. Bryant's report: "I have been practising law as before."

Martin Grove Brumbaugh

Married: Anna Konigmacher at Ephrata, Pa., Aug. 1, 1884 (died June 16, 1913); Flora B. Parks at Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 29, 1916. Children: Mabel Amanda, Oct. 18, 1887; George Edwin, July 30, 1890.

Occupation: College President.

Died: Pinehurst, N. C., March 14, 1930.

MARTIN GROVE BRUMBAUGH died at Pinehurst, N. C., on March 14, 1930. Most of his life was given up to educational administration. From 1884 to 1890 he was superintendent of schools for Huntingdon County, Pa., and from 1895 to 1906 president of Juniata College. In 1906 he became superintendent of the public schools of Philadelphia, and held that position for eight years. In 1914 he was elected Governor of Pennsylvania for a term of four years. Six years later, he again assumed the presidency of Juniata College, and he remained in that post until his death. He was the first commissioner of education appointed for Porto Rico, where he established a system of public schools between 1900 and 1902. From 1895 to 1900, and from 1902 to 1906, he was professor of Pedagogy at the University of Pennsylvania. He was born in Huntingdon County, Pa., on April 14, 1862, the son of George B. and Martha (Peightal) Brumbaugh. In 1884 he married Anna Konigmacher and, after her death, Flora B. Parks, who survives him.

ALBERT WILLIAM BULLARD

Married: Emma Martha Pinkham at Boston, Mass., Oct. 12, 1911.

Occupation: Publisher and Printer.

CLASS RECORDS

Address: (home) 24 Howe St., Somerville, Mass.; (business) 446 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

WHEN Bullard stopped having birthdays ten years ago, the Secretary suspected that trouble was brewing. Now it has come to a head. Bullard's report:

"Nothing has happened worthy of special notice. One day rolls past just like the other."

Frederick William Burgess

Married: Zaidee Palmer at Andover, Mass., Aug. 23, 1903.

Children: Caroline Palmer, Sept. 29, 1905; Martha Palmer, Sept. 29, 1905.

Occupation: Merchant.

Died: Wollaston, Mass., April 9, 1927.

FREDERICK WILLIAM BURGESS died at Wollaston, Mass., on April 9, 1927. He had been in business in Boston for a great many years, but had retired shortly before his death. In 1903 he married Zaidee Palmer of Andover. They had two daughters. He was born in Boston on December 4, 1869, the son of Benjamin F. and Isabelle (Loomis) Burgess.

Walter Edward Burke

Married: Zayma King at Quincy, Mass., Jan. 1, 1900. Children: Roydon, Dec. 21, 1901; Vera Ernestine, Aug. 2, 1905.

Occupation: Insurance Broker.

Died: Quincy, Mass., April 15, 1927.

WALTER EDWARD BURKE died April 15, 1927, from heart disease. For many years he was engaged in the automobile business at Quincy, Mass., but he retired to enter the insurance and real-estate business. During the last few years of his life it was his custom to spend the winters in California. In March he was taken critically ill and returned home to die. He is survived by his widow, sister of our Classmate Delcevere King, a son, Roydon Burke of Quincy, and a daughter, Mrs. William Hall Derwin of La Verne, Calif.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

When the home guard militia company was formed in Quincy during the World War, Burke became a member. Subsequently, the home guard company became Co. C of the 14th Regiment. This was the first company to respond for duty during the Boston Police strike. His brother-in-law says of Burke: "No matter how poorly he felt, he never complained, but was always cheerful and ready to joke, and this fine quality was with him to the very end."

ALBERT EDWARD CARROLL

Married: Annette Hugus at New York, N. Y., March 2, 1901.
Children: Charles B., Sept. 14, 1912.
Occupation: Manufacturer and Banker.
Address: 135 Freeman St., Brookline, Mass.

CARROLL has figured his life down to a mathematical basis. He writes:

"I reside on the Pacific Coast one half of each year, and on the Atlantic Coast the other half. I devote my attention equally to business and pleasure at each location."

ROBERT KELSO CASSATT

Married: Amanda Ruckman Fell at Whitemarsh, Pa., Jan. 22, 1900. Children: Alexander Johnston, Nov. 5, 1904; Anthony Drexel, Oct. 13, 1906.
Occupation: Investment Banker.
Address: (home) Rosemont, Pa.; (business) 111 Commercial Trust Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

"NOTHING of interest" has happened to Cassatt except the advent of a grandson, Robert Kelso, 2nd. May he grow up to be just like his grandfather, with the possible exception of a more liberal attitude towards long-suffering Class Secretaries.

WILLIAM WATSON CASWELL

Married: Pauline Starr at New York, N. Y., Dec. 2, 1896. Children: William Watson, Jr., Nov. 25, 1897; Dorothy, Dec. 30, 1898.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Business Executive (retired).

Address: c/o William Watson, 53 Worth St., New York, N. Y.

THIS is William Caswell's first report since the "Twenty-fifth". No news was obviously good news. He says:

"My life has run along smoothly. I retired from business a few years ago. My son has married and there is now a grandson, William Watson, 3rd, to carry on the family tradition. My daughter is also married."

WILLIAM ERVIN CATE

Married: Florence Gertrude Spring at Fitchburg, Mass., Aug. 28, 1900.

Occupation: High School Principal.

Address: (home) 170 Morris Ave., Long Branch, N. J.; (business) Chattle High School, Long Branch, N. J.

CATE is still willing to answer "alive" to the Secretary's roll call, but further than that he will not commit himself. He says:

"My report will be as given in 1925. I am still principal of the Chattle High School at Long Branch, N. J."

HENRY HARMON CHAMBERLIN

Married: Armida Theresa Zoraide Michetti, June 1, 1907. Children: Harmon Paine, June 4, 1908.

Occupation: Author.

Address: 22 May St., Worcester, Mass.

CHAMBERLIN's handwriting has not improved during the past five years. The Secretary will not be responsible for any errors made in transcribing.

"For four years, I have aided in organizing a series of International Soccer contests between Worcester County, Massachusetts, and Worcestershire, England. The teams are composed of working men. Three series of matches have been played, two in England and one in Massachusetts. The Worcester County Sportmanship Brotherhood expects to entertain a team of English visitors in the fall of 1930. This will make the fourth in the series of matches. Their main object is obviously the promotion of international goodwill."

JOHN HENRY CHASE

Married: Katherine Newell Denison at Saybrook, Conn., July 20, 1899 (died June 29, 1900); Margaret Lyon Denison at Saybrook, Conn., Aug. 12, 1902. Children: John Denison, June 26, 1900.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: 4 Newport Road, Cambridge, Mass.

OF what need for John Chase to write a detailed report of himself when there are so many sons of '95 men to bear witness to his kindly supervision.

"I am still teaching in Milton Academy," he writes. "There's nothing to report but the regular routine of life, broken by two trips to Europe and the Near East in the summer of 1928."

JOHN MORGAN CHEEK

Married: Olive Virginia Cornett at Elk Creek, Va., 1900. Children: Margaret Virginia, June 8, 1901; John Morgan, Jr., June 4, 1908; Ralph Bryant, Oct. 22, 1909.

Occupation: School Superintendent.

Address: Sparta, Alleghany Co., N. C.

CHEEK's life may be gleaned from his statistics. There has been no change since our Thirtieth Report.

ELLIOTT BRADFORD CHURCH

Married: Blanche Bonnelle at Boston, Mass., Oct. 24, 1907. Children: Eleanor Bradford, June 17, 1910; Mary Sumner, March 30, 1913.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 30 Bennington St., Newton, Mass.; (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.

CHURCH says that his avocations have not changed in the past five years, but the Secretary suspects that he has added one to his list. On certain Tuesday afternoons during the year he may be observed in one of the back rows at

CLASS RECORDS

Symphony Hall, listening with every sign of enjoyment to Kousevitsky's rendition of the classics. Church writes:

"My vocation is still practicing law in association with Hollis R. Bailey, '77, and Albert M. Chandler, 1900. My avocations also remain the same, but I am particularly interested in education. I have just been elected to the Newton School Committee for a third term of three years and act as its chairman.

"I am a member of the Suffolk County Character Committee associated with the Massachusetts Board of Bar Examiners. I am also president of the Newton Welfare Bureau, and a director of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. One of my daughters is now a sophomore at Smith College."

FRANK NATHANIEL CLAPP

Married: Edith Gardner Reed, Dec. 7, 1899. Children: Priscilla Otis, Oct. 1, 1903; Nathaniel Dudley, Feb. 12, 1905; Gilbert Tufts, Dec. 31, 1911.

Occupation: Pyrotechnist.

Address: (home) 120 Commercial St., Weymouth, Mass.; (business) Weymouth, Mass.

CLAPP's report concerns the second and third generations only:

"My daughter was married on June 2, 1928, to John G. Walcott of the Harvard Class of 1914. I am happy to state that there is now one granddaughter, who has been named Patricia Walcott. My elder son was graduated from Harvard in 1928 and is now attending the Business School."

EWING COCKRELL

Married: Leacy Peachy Williams at Staunton, Va., June 3, 1896. Children: Anna Ewing, June 22, 1898; Flora McDonald, June 14, 1900; Francis Marion, Dec. 14, 1906; Eustace Williams, Nov. 5, 1909.

Occupation: Circuit Judge (retired).

Address: Warrensburg, Mo.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

AFTER twelve years of service as Circuit Judge, Cockrell was not a candidate for re-election last year. He preferred to devote all his time to the United States Federation of Justice, an organization that he helped to found in 1928.

“I spent several years organizing and surveying all successful methods and practices in law administration in all departments,” he writes. “The United States Federation of Justice was incorporated for this purpose in May 1928. In 1929 I helped organize the Jackson County Federation of Justice, a local union of all leading officials of this community, created to install the successes of justice reported to them by the United States Federation of Justice, and to do much similar work. This interest occupies all my time.”

FLETCHER BARKER COFFIN

Married: Frances Josephine Loring at Dallas Center, Ia., Nov. 26, 1913. Children: Louise Loring, May 3, 1915; Lewis Edward, May 15, 1924.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 144 Bellevue St., Newton, Mass.; (business) Lake Forest College, Lake Forest, Ill.

COFFIN still asks for nothing more than what he listed in our last Report:

“— A pleasant home on the college campus, congenial colleagues on the faculty, a fine library of books, an opportunity to visit dear New England for three months each summer, good health and few worries.”

SAMUEL HENRY COHN

Married: Della Glauber Stone at Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 15, 1906. Children: Frank J., Sept. 28, 1907; Walter J., Dec. 28, 1910; Alan M., Oct. 11, 1915.

Occupation: Insurance Agent.

Address: (home) 14304 Superior Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio; (business) 1440 Leader Bldg., Cleveland, Ohio.

LIKE a great many others, Cohn since our last Report has been living and learning.

“Found out I could not beat the stock market” — is his terse comment.

CLASS RECORDS

CARY RICHARD COLBURN

Married: Martha Dunton at Carpentersville, Ill., Sept. 13, 1905.

Children: Richard Dunton, June 24, 1911; William Dunton, Dec. 18, 1912; Price Dunton, Aug. 6, 1914.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: The Japan-America Society, Mitsui Bank Building, Osaka, Japan.

TWENTY years ago Colburn was teaching English and Economics in the University of Commerce at Osaka, Japan. His stay there was so pleasant that when he was offered another appointment a year ago he accepted gladly. This time, however, he will teach English and the history of Common Law.

"I have always wanted to return to Japan ever since I left in 1909," he writes, "but I could not find a convenient time to leave home until last spring. I expect to stay in the Orient now until our Fiftieth Anniversary, when I shall retire to spend my declining years (if I have any) under a Harvard elm."

WILLIAM DENNIS COLLINS

Married: Jane Lydia Richards at Indianapolis, Ind., April 20, 1907.

Occupation: Chemist.

Address: (home) 1924 Belmont Road, N. W., Washington, D. C.; (business) U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

SINCE 1920 Collins has been working for the United States Geological Survey on problems relating to the chemical character of waters in the United States. He has found the work very pleasant and hopes to be permitted to continue it for a number of years to come.

"In October 1928," he writes, "I was sent to Virginia and Arkansas to study the hot springs there. This trip also included exploration of the Colorado River at Grand Canyon, Arizona. A week at Yuma, Arizona, on the same trip was nothing to write about in a polite communication, but the samples of deposited silt collected there helped in the study of what will happen if and when a dam is built across the Colorado River.

“My only publications to date have been a few water-supply papers and journal articles on water problems.”

WILLIAM WISTAR COMFORT

Married: Mary Lawton Fales at Chicago, Ill., June 26, 1902. Children: Howard, June 4, 1904; Mary Lawton, June 29, 1906; Catherine Fales, Jan. 11, 1909 (died Sept. 12, 1909); Susan Wistar, Jan. 11, 1909; Anne Wistar, March 8, 1911; Priscilla Fales, Nov. 27, 1917.

Occupation: College President.

Address: Haverford College, Haverford, Pa.

IN spite of his many duties as president of Haverford College, Comfort has found time during the past five years to prepare two books: “Practical French Composition”; and “In Quest of the Holy Grail”, a translation from the Old French. To his long list of degrees he has added one more — LL.D., which was given him by Lake Forest College.

JOHN EDWARD CONNELLY

Married: Julia Agnes Broughey at Milford, Mass., Dec. 27, 1899 (died Oct. 2, 1929). Children: Margaret, March 9, 1901; John, March 4, 1904; Albert, March 24, 1908.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 200 West 71st St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 27 William St., New York, N. Y.

FIVE years ago Connelly was so busy that he sent in no report at all. This year he can't be much better off, for his brief communication was written and signed by his secretary.

“Since my last report, my time has been devoted almost completely to the practice of law. I am a member of the advisory board of the New York State Insurance Fund.”

CLASS RECORDS

JULIAN LOWELL COOLIDGE

Married: Theresa Reynolds at Boston, Mass., Jan. 17, 1901.
Children: Jane Revere, July 17, 1902; Julian Gardner, Sept. 30, 1903 (died Feb. 18, 1907); Archibald Cary, Dec. 10, 1905; Margaret Wendell, Oct. 17, 1907; Elizabeth Peabody, Aug. 30, 1909; Rachel Revere, Feb. 21, 1911; John Phillips, Dec. 16, 1913; Theresa Reynolds, May 21, 1915.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: 27 Fayerweather St., Cambridge, Mass.

COOLIDGE did not fill out his blank correctly. After the question, What positions of public trust have you held, he wrote "None". And yet he was one of the two professors who were asked to inaugurate the House system at Harvard. The Class feels that not only is this a great honor for Coolidge, but that it too may bask in reflected glory.

There was more reason for Coolidge's reply to the suggestion that he might have retired. "No!!!" he wrote. "I acted as exchange professor in France during the spring of 1927. In December 1928, I was appointed Master of Lowell House. My work seems cut out for me."

JOHN STUART COONLEY

Married: Louise Sherwood Root at Chicago, Ill., June 12, 1895.
Children: Lydia Avery, Jan. 3, 1897; John Stuart, Jr., Feb. 3, 1900; Frances Root, Oct. 5, 1901.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: (home) 1245 Astor St., Chicago, Ill.; (business) 79 W. Monroe St., Chicago, Ill.

THINGS are "just about the same" with Coonley. He sends his greetings to the Class.

ABRAM HARRISON CORNISH

Married: Anna Mildred Hubbard at Winchester, Ill., June 25, 1903. Children: Charles Hubbard, April 16, 1905; Abram Harrison, Jr., March 27, 1911.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 26 Curtis Pl., Maplewood, N. J.; (business) 790 Broad St., Newark, N. J.

So little has happened to Cornish during the past five years that he crossed out that item on his blank entirely. He reports that his elder son was graduated from Cornell in 1928, but the Secretary understands that to offset that he is planning to send his other son to Harvard.

ROBERT WHEATON COUES

Married: Charlotte Osgood at Newburyport, Mass., July 24, 1920.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: 3 Acacia St., Cambridge, Mass.

FOR our Thirtieth Report Coues forgot to mention the fact of his marriage. After five years, he seems to be better trained.

“I am still teaching at Harvard,” he writes. “My wife and I made a trip to Europe in the summer of 1928 and had a delightful time.”

ALLEN CROSBY CROCKER

Occupation: Clerk (retired).

Address: 5 Park St., Leominster, Mass.

FIVE years ago Crocker had attained the milestone of retirement. Apparently he is quite content to linger there, for he writes:

“No progress since last report.”

GEORGE CROMPTON

Married: Alice Hastings at Boston, Mass., April 11, 1896. Children: George, May 7, 1897; Davis Hastings, Feb. 6, 1909.

Occupation: Manufacturer, Realtor and Trustee.

Address: (home) 74 William St., Worcester, Mass.; (business) 452 Main St., Worcester, Mass.

CLASS RECORDS

WHY don't the warring factions at Washington call in Crompton to settle their difficulties? He writes:

"Most of my time since our last Report has been spent studying the tariff situation. In December 1927, I published through MacMillan Company, 'The Tariff: An Interpretation of a Bewildering Problem'. Nothing else of any importance has happened to me."

ARTHUR LYON CROSS

Occupation: Professor.

Address: 705 South State St., Ann Arbor, Mich.

HEIGH ho! for the life of a college professor — particularly if he is a bachelor. Cross writes:

"No entangling alliances since our last Report. I have spent the past three summers in Europe. In 1925 I was made a corresponding member of the Massachusetts Historical Society."

FELLOWES DAVIS, Jr.

Married: Gertrude Agostini at New York, N. Y., Dec. 7, 1904.

Occupation: Physician (retired).

Address: (home) 424 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.; (European) Riant-Château, Montreux-Terretet, Switzerland.

ALTHOUGH Davis insists that his continued "sabbatical" abroad has nothing to do with the Volstead Act, there are no signs of his returning home as yet. He has recently taken up his residence at Montreux, Switzerland.

"I have met the much renowned Ali Baba and his Forty Thieves," he writes. "Otherwise all quiet on the Eastern Front."

ARTHUR ADRIAN DODD

Married: Laura Johnson at Maitland, Mo., June 24, 1886. Children: Paul, Feb. 1, 1889; Mary, June 16, 1890 (died June 16, 1890).

Occupation: High School Principal.

Address: (home) 6412 Paseo St., Kansas City, Mo.; (business) 15th and Forest Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

DODD is principal of one of the oldest manual-training high schools in the country. Looking after its two thousand pupils occupies all of his time.

“Nothing special has occurred outside of the daily routine,” he writes. “I received my Master’s degree at the University of Kansas in September 1926.”

EDWIN SHERRILL DODGE

Married: Mrs. Mabel Ganson Evans at Paris, France, Nov. 4, 1904 (divorced June, 1916); Mrs. Margaret Harrison Child at Westwood, Mass., Sept. 21, 1920.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (home) 41 Chestnut St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 15 Exchange St., Boston, Mass.; (summer) Westwood, Mass.

EDWIN DODGE should be one of the happiest mortals on earth. He writes:

“I have had enough to do and not too much. I have been able to go to Europe for a few weeks every winter. As I write, I am about to sail for Egypt; but I shall be back in plenty of time for the Reunion.”

NATHAN PHILLIPS DODGE, Jr.

Married: Laura Collins Whitney, June 11, 1907. Children: Nathan Phillips, Jr., Oct. 4, 1910; Laura Whitney, Sept. 24, 1914; Henry Whitney, Sept. 15, 1917.

Occupation: Real Estate Operator.

Address: (home) Milton, Mass.; (business) 2042 Hainey St., Omaha, Neb.

No one would dare complain about the slowness of the “8:27” or the “5:15” in Dodge’s presence. As a commuter he puts the rest of us all in the shade. His letter:

“I moved my family to Milton in 1926 on account of the school. I commute between there and Omaha and various cities. During the past five years I have been very busy and happy. I am renewing my youth with my boys, who promise to be far better athletes and men than their paternal ancestor. My daughter is preparing for college. I have not lost any of my interest in politics, but business has compelled me to devote to it all my strength. Had I any to spare, it would have been most happily expended in civic or state work."

JOHN WILLIAM DRAPER

Married: Hortense Pray at Shirley, Mass., June 12, 1901. Children: Henry, April 5, 1903; John William, Jr., Oct. 23, 1905; Thayer Pereira, July 24, 1911.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: 9 East 40th St., New York, N. Y.

NOT many hardened cases, so we understand, ever become permanently converted to the error of their ways. Draper must be one of the exceptions, for continuing his initial performance of five years ago, he contributes the following lines for this Report:

"I am still buried in the unremunerative but interesting problem of surgical research, with special reference to the prevention of personality changes in children. My eldest son has married since our last Report, and there is now one grandson to boast about."

HORATIO WILLIS DRESSER

Married: Alice Mae Reed at Boston, Mass., March 17, 1898. Children: Dorothea, Dec. 18, 1901; Malcolm, Oct. 14, 1905.

Occupation: Author.

Address: South Hadley, Mass.

THE most industrious author in our midst is Horatio Dresser. He has four books to show for the past five years.

"I have been working on the series of textbooks for the Crowell Company that I began in 1924," he writes. "All of my time is absorbed in literary work. Nothing else of any importance has happened to me.

"My son was graduated from Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1928 and received his Master's degree from Columbia in 1929. My daughter has presented the family with a fine boy, who is now two and one-half years old."

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

CARL DREYFUS

Married: Lilian Shuman at Boston, Mass., April, 1899 (died Feb. 1, 1913); Sylvia T. Goulston at Boston, Mass., Aug. 19, 1914. Children: Émilie, July 6, 1915; Carl, Jr., Jan. 9, 1917; Edward G., April 5, 1918.

Occupation: Business Executive.

Address: (home) 312 Dartmouth St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 80 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

THERE have been various stages of retirement for Carl Dreyfus. The present one is called "pretty nearly" — by which he means that he has definitely retired from the department-store business, but has become treasurer of the Dreyfus Real Estate Company. As a result, he finds that he has more time to devote to social problems which have always interested him. He writes:

"Our classmate, Andrew Peters, while president of the Chamber of Commerce, appointed me its representative on a Board to make an intensive survey of the Boston Public Schools. President Lowell, appointed by Mayor Nichols, and Francis R. Bangs, representing the Real Estate Exchange, were among the nine members. After nearly two years of constant effort, we have just concluded our Survey. The most important recommendation has already gone into effect. I hope others will follow. It has been a most engaging work. I am still a trustee of the Boston City Hospital and the Boston Floating Hospital."

HOWLAND DUDLEY

Married: Helen Fuller at Cambridge, Mass., June 8, 1903. Children: Sanford Harrison, July 14, 1904; Margaret, July 17, 1906; Howland, Jr., Feb. 6, 1910; Grace Fuller, Nov. 30, 1917.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 20 Oakley Rd., Belmont, Mass.; (business) 73 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

HOWLAND DUDLEY made no return for our Thirtieth Report, and for this Report he has merely noted the fact of his daughter's graduation from Wheaton in 1928. Perhaps when Howland, Jr., enters Harvard, his father will find more to write about.

CLASS RECORDS

LEWIS WARREN DUNTON

Married: Grace D. Taylor at Rockland, Me., June 28, 1905. Children: Lewis Warren, Jr., July 26, 1912; John, Nov. 7, 1914.

Occupation: Broker.

Address: (home) 204 Main St., Spencer, Mass.; (business) 1 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

ALTHOUGH Dunton has not changed his occupation since our last Report, he has changed his address. He is now associated with Porter & Co., brokers, at 1 Federal Street, Boston.

“Outside of business,” he writes, “my chief interest has been the education of my sons, and keeping in touch with their activities. My elder son, now a senior at Phillips Exeter Academy, hopes to enter Harvard next fall.”

ARTHUR DURWARD

Married: Clara Dell Pitzer at Pomona, Calif., Nov. 30, 1899. Children: Ruth Elizabeth, April 18, 1902; Lois Esther, May 30, 1905; Alice Margaret, March 16, 1908.

Occupation: Fruit Grower.

Address: 1655 Fifth St., La Verne, Calif.

DURWARD can think of nothing to write about that would be of interest to other people, — and this in spite of the fact that he has been Mayor of the City of La Verne since 1921. But probably local politics are not as exciting as they are here in Boston.

NORMAN SALISBURY EASTON

Married: Lillian Marcella Phillips at Fall River, Mass., April 3, 1899. Children: Doris Sherman, April 10, 1900; Marion Phillips, Dec. 18, 1902.

Occupation: Supervising Principal.

Address: (home) 458 High St., Fall River, Mass.; (business) Davis School, Fall River, Mass.

THE Secretary's questionnaire aroused no responsive chord in Easton's breast.

“Nothing of interest since our last Report,” he writes. “I am still teaching school in Fall River.”

ARTHUR ELSON

Occupation: Author.

Address: 114 The Fenway, Boston, Mass.

HERE is one Ninety-fiver who beat the stock market, but it doesn't make the rest of us feel any better. Elson writes:

"I sold General Electric at three-ninety-seven. Since our last Reunion I have built a summer cottage at Rockport, Mass., to which visitors are welcome. I am finishing a book entitled 'Music Explained', with an illustrative piano collection, aimed to separate the radio fan and his money."

WILLIAM EMERSON

Married: Frances White Moffat at New York, N. Y., Jan. 14, 1913.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: 491 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

THE years have dealt gently and kindly with Emerson, even as he has wished for the rest of us.

"I am still engrossed in my job as head of the Department of Architecture at Massachusetts Institute of Technology," he writes. "In 1928 I was made an honorary Phi Beta Kappa. During the past five years I have published one book 'Old Bridges of France', and have in preparation another — 'Brick Architecture of France'. I have also found time to act as trustee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, Simmons College, Fenn School, the Moses Kimball Fund and the Russian Student Fund."

Robert Wales Emmons, 2d

Married: Helen Brooks at Boston, Mass., Feb. 5, 1896. Children:

Robert Wales, 3rd, July 11, 1897; Gardner, Oct. 9, 1905.

Occupation: Trustee and Treasurer.

Died: Monument Beach, Mass., April 19, 1928.

ROBERT WALES EMMONS, 2d, died on April 19, 1928. If ever a class had a leader, the Class of '95 had one in Bob Emmons. He was President of the Class for four years,

CLASS RECORDS

Chief Marshal at graduation and Marshal at our Twenty-Fifth Anniversary. He won this position not only through his reputation as an athlete and his personal charm, but also through his potential power of accomplishing any object in which he was interested. His most dominant characteristic was loyalty. He was loyal to his friends and loyal to his Class, and whenever one of his friends needed help and encouragement Bob was always ready and anxious to give the help needed. No one had better the power to do it and none was more generous in giving this aid.

Those of us who remember Bob afloat remember him in his most charming surroundings. From a small boy, sailing was his greatest pleasure. The first time I saw him was when he was a boy ten years old; I joined him in sailing a small boat on a pond at Cape Cod. This love of sailing was his lifelong pleasure, and he developed it to such a high degree of perfection that it might be called a profession, for he was one of the famous yachtsmen of the world. When the War came he immediately enlisted in the Navy, and here his steady seamanship and undaunted courage were so effective that the Admiral under whom he served, in talking to me some years after the War, was unstinted in his appreciation and praise. It is hard to conceive of the Class of '95 without Bob Emmons.

N. H.

PERCY FRANKLIN EMORY

Married: Reba Cornett at New York, N. Y., April 26, 1906.

Children: Thomas, April 13, 1911 (died April 14, 1911).

Occupation: Real Estate Operator.

Address: (home) Casenovia, N. Y.; (business) 222 West 23rd St., New York, N. Y.

NUMBER three on the questionnaire was the only one that appealed to Emory. "My original marriage is still going strong," he says.

JOHN ARCHIBALD FAIRLIE

Occupation: Professor.

Address: (home) 1203 West Illinois St., Urbana, Ill.; (business) University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

FAIRLIE did not find much to add to his "doings" five years ago. He has certainly made up for lost time in this Report. His letter:

"In 1928 I was appointed chairman of the Committee on Grants in Aid of the Social Science Research Council. I am a member of the Board of Directors of the Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences, and chairman of the Committee on Model County Manager Law for the National Municipal League. In 1929 I was made president of the American Political Science Association.

"During the past five years I have published one book, 'Administrative Procedure in Great Britain', and expect shortly to publish another, 'County Government and Administration', written in collaboration with C. M. Kneier. I have also contributed to the American Political Science Review, and the Michigan Law Review.

"Nothing else of any great importance has happened to me. I visited Europe again in the summer of 1927. I have traveled by motor through most of the cities east of the Mississippi River."

MARSHALL BRYANT FANNING

Married: Mary Lydia Murray at New Paris, Ohio, Aug. 4, 1897.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: 222 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.

FANNING's regard for the Secretary seems to be diminishing, judging by his contribution to this Report.

"We have added a country home in Duxbury which gives us constant joy; otherwise nothing of note has happened since the previous Report."

WILLIAM WRIGHT FISHER

Married: Margaret May Landon at Fairmont, Md., Sept. 11, 1901.

Children: William Gooding, Jan. 9, 1904.

Occupation: Teacher (retired).

Address: R. F. D. No. 1, Harbeson, Del.

CLASS RECORDS

FISHER's retirement occurred on exactly the date that he had set for himself in our Thirtieth Report.

"On February 1, 1927," he writes, "I resigned as chairman of the English Department of the Boys' High School in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since that time I have found much pleasure and satisfaction in looking after the interests and development of an old farm known as Cedarcroft. It consists of some three hundred and fifty acres and has been in the family for over two hundred and forty years."

CHARLES MACOMB FLANDRAU

Occupation: Author.

Address: 385 Pleasant Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

CHAPTER Five (which concerns hardly anything, but is not the end):

"I feel meager indeed in sending you back this blank, which still remains so blank. Since the last Report I have divided my time between my home in Saint Paul and Europe — chiefly France. Just recently I have acquired a charming old house and a small farm in Normandy, and I hope to spend a good deal of time here."

PERLEY GREENE FLINT

Married: Elsie Lilian Ewer at Boston, Mass., Sept. 16, 1896.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: (home) 175 Newbury St., Brockton, Mass.; (business) 45 Emerson Ave., Brockton, Mass.

FLINT sees himself as others see him:

"Some work.

"Some play.

"Some travel.

"And when I saw some Classmates at the Yale Game, I realized that I must have taken on some age."

ROLFE FLOYD

Married: Emily Delafield at New York, N. Y., June 21, 1901 (died); Ellen Geelmuyden at Newark, N. J., Dec. 1928. Children: Rolfe, Jr., July 13, 1902; Richard, May 4, 1904 (died)

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Feb. 11, 1905); Emily Delafield, July 31, 1905; William, June 5, 1910.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: 114 East 54th St., New York, N. Y.

FOR a number of years Floyd has been devoting his attention to the study of kidney disease. Since our last Report he has published a book on the subject, entitled "Kidney Disease from the Physician's Standpoint".

"This has been the most important achievement of the past five years," he says. "I am still attending physician at the Roosevelt Hospital and still actively engaged in the practice of medicine."

EDWARD WALDO FORBES

Married: Margaret Laighton at Manila, P. I., Jan. 29, 1907. Children: Rosamond, Oct. 14, 1908; John Murray, July 14, 1910; Mary Emerson, Oct. 26, 1912; Elliot, Aug. 30, 1917; Anne, May 18, 1919.

Occupation: Museum Director.

Address: (home) Gerry's Landing, Cambridge, Mass.; (business) Fogg Art Museum, Cambridge, Mass.

EDWARD FORBES' name will be forever associated with the new Fogg Art Museum. During our celebration the Class will have an opportunity to examine this beautiful building, which owes its existence so largely to Forbes' efforts.

"I am happy to say that we are now housed in our new quarters," Forbes writes, "and I shall enjoy showing the Class around this June. My time has been so fully occupied with the many problems incidental to construction that there is little else I can write about. The University of Pittsburgh conferred upon me the honorary degree of LL.D. in 1927. I have also been elected an honorary director and trustee of the Wadsworth Atheneum at Hartford, Conn."

CHARLES STRATTON FRENCH

Married: Isabel Rockwood Mauro at Washington, D. C., March 28, 1905. Children: John Mauro, Jan. 22, 1906; David, June 12, 1909; Nathaniel Rockwood, March 8, 1913.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) Framingham, Mass.; (business) 50 State St., Boston, Mass.

As French feared five years ago, an increased cost of living and college expenses have sent him back to work again. He writes:

“Since the last Report, I have returned to my old association in the law offices of my uncle, Charles E. Stratton, Harvard '66, at 50 State Street, Boston. So far the bulk of my work has been that of master and auditor. My eldest son was graduated from Harvard last year. My second son is enrolled in the Class of 1932.”

LEO VICTOR FRIEDMAN

Married: Anna Walcott Metcalf at Boston, Mass., June 6, 1907.

Children: Richard, June 16, 1909; Fabian, June 15, 1911; Nicholas, Dec. 27, 1913.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: (home) Dudley Road, Newton Center, Mass.; (business) 15 Bay State Road, Boston, Mass.

FRIEDMAN'S “method of world reform”, about which he has had so much to say in the past, does not seem to be progressing very rapidly. His report:

“Nothing has developed since my last communication.”

FRANKLIN SENTER FRISBEE

Married: Gladys Louise Raza at Roxbury, Mass., June 2, 1909.

Occupation: Patent Attorney.

Address: Colonial Apartments, St. Johnsbury, Vt.

FRISBEE just sneaks in under the wire with the following: “Please change my address to St. Johnsbury, Vt., where I am now living. I am the patent attorney for E. and T. Fairbanks & Company, scale manufacturers, in St. Johnsbury.”

FREDERICK GILLMORE

Married: Nellie Alston Cravey at Pensacola, Fla., June 17, 1899.

Children: Frederick C., Sept. 7, 1901; Mary L., Oct. 18, 1904.

Occupation: Shipbroker and Exporter.

Address: (home) 127 West Gregory St., Pensacola, Fla.; (business) American National Bank Bldg., Pensacola, Fla.

GILLMORE's shipping business at Pensacola, which he founded in 1919, has been very successful. His ambition to make it one of the largest concerns of its kind in the South seems in a fair way to be realized. He writes:

"I am still active in my business which is growing largely each year. The Chamber of Commerce here has recently elected me its vice-president. I am also a director.

"I have not married again, being one of those who 'stay hitched'. The only other item of interest is that I now have two grandchildren."

FRANCIS LYMAN GILMAN

Married: Harriet Frances Hart at New Bedford, Mass., 1896 (died June 5, 1919). Children: Frances Hart, 1897.

Occupation: Business Executive.

Address: (home) 154 N. Mountain Ave., Montclair, N. J.; (business) 195 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

SINCE January 1, 1926, Gilman has been employed as treasurer of the Western Electric Company. His report reads very differently from the one he had to submit five years ago.

"A rather colorless five years, you'll say," it begins, "but I shall always look back on them with satisfaction. You see, the previous five years left me just about flat, physically, due to a well-nigh fatal illness, so I have been learning to live again in spite of handicaps. Then, too, the new job during the last four years has been of very special interest to me, who had more science than art in College and both engineering and manufacturing experience in his earlier business life."

CLASS RECORDS

ROGER GILMAN

Married: Jane Bowler at Paris, France, June 6, 1918. Children: Barbara, July 6, 1919; Alison, March 1, 1923; Susan, July 10, 1924.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: 9 Benevolent St., Providence, R. I.

ACCORDING to Gilman there are advantages and disadvantages to a sabbatical trip abroad this year. To be sure one is out of reach of the Secretary's deadly "follow-up", but at the same time the pleasures of the Reunion must be foregone.

"I shall not be home until September," he says. "As you perhaps know, I've stopped school-mastering and returned to architecture — theoretically and appreciatively. My only publications during the past five years have been an article now and then on architecture, decoration and the moderns. A large part of my time over here has been devoted to the study of modern architecture.

"Between ourselves, it has been a most interesting and delightful year; I wish more of my Classmates might share it. Perhaps, however, they would miss many things that one can't have over here, so we are 'all even'. I am looking forward on my return to settling in Cambridge and renewing many old associations and friendships."

William Lynch Francis Gilman

Married: Frances L. Marden at Boston, Mass., June 1, 1908.

Children: John Edward, Jan. 18, 1910; William Henry, Aug. 9, 1911.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Died: Wellesley, Mass., Dec. 22, 1927.

WILLIAM LYNCH FRANCIS GILMAN died at his home in Wellesley, Mass., December 22, 1927, after a very brief illness. He studied law at Boston University and thereafter practised his profession in Boston — first in partnership with his brother, John E. Gilman, Jr., then alone, and later in association with Wheaton Kittredge at 1 Federal Street,

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Boston. In 1914 he was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature.

He was born in Boston on April 17, 1873, the son of John E. and Mary L. Gilman and prepared for College at the Boston Latin School. In 1908 he married Frances L. Marden of Boston, who survives with two sons, John Edward, 3rd and William Henry, both of whom when Gilman died were in their last year of preparation for Harvard College, the former at the Roxbury Latin School and the latter at Phillips Exeter Academy.

HENRY GILSEY

Occupation: Unoccupied.

Address: Huntington, N. Y.

WHAT a lucky mortal Gilsey is! He writes:
“I have never been in business, so consequently I cannot retire.”

ELLIOT HERSEY GOODWIN

Married: Isabel Montague Geer at New York, N. Y., Feb. 19, 1914. Children: Katharine Throop, June 18, 1915; Eliot Hersey, Jr., Dec. 25, 1916.

Occupation: Civil Service Commissioner.

Address: 20 Berkeley St., Cambridge, Mass.

THE Secretary is afraid that Elliot Goodwin did not rap on wood when he wrote so feelingly five years ago about his work always having fallen in pleasant places. He now writes:

“When I last reported, I was a resident of Washington and occupying the position of Resident Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. I resigned in October 1927, and returned to my native hearth with ideas of resuming historical research work. But soon afterwards I was drafted by old Civil Service Reform friends to stand for appointment as Civil Service Commissioner of Massachusetts. In December 1928, I was appointed by Governor Fuller and very recently have been reappointed by Governor Allen. The service has plenty of grief connected with it, and in the opinion of many I should be serving time.”

CLASS RECORDS

JOSEPH WILLIAM GOODWIN, Jr.

Married: Elizabeth Lester Jones at Richmond Hill, N. Y., July 30, 1913.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 8343 Audley St., Richmond Hill, N. Y.; (business) 40 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

JOSEPH GOODWIN has often wondered whether the long hours and intensive thought that he has devoted to legal problems have really contributed much to human progress. On the whole he has his doubts, but he has no doubts at all about the material that it provides for Class Reports.

"Nothing has happened to me of any interest in the past five years," he writes. "My time is still devoted to obtaining my daily bread by practicing law. You know how much excitement there is in that."

VENZO GRANT

Occupation: Farmer and Realtor.

Address: Navarre, Ohio.

GRANT has commissioned the Secretary to remember him to all his former Classmates. He hopes to get down for a Reunion as soon as the real-estate deals which he has pending in Seattle are finished.

ROLAND GRAY

Married: Mary Tudor at Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1907. Children: John Chipman, Aug. 12, 1908; Mary Whitwell, Jan. 11, 1911; Roland, Jr., Nov. 6, 1912; Christopher, June 22, 1915.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 176 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 50 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

SINCE 1915 Roland Gray has been spending his summers in California, which probably accounts for the fact that his daughter is now attending a college in that state. As long as he sends his sons to Harvard, however, the Class can see no cause for complaint. Gray writes:

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“My life has followed the same course as during the previous five years. I have a son at Harvard in the Class of 1930. My daughter is enrolled in Mills College, California, with the Class of 1932.”

WILLIAM EDWARD GREENOUGH

Married: Ada M. Allen at New York, N. Y., Jan. 15, 1909.

Children: Molly, Feb. 9, 1910.

Occupation: Dramatic Critic.

Address: (home) 33 Norway St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 171 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

WAS the questionnaire for this Report any more suggestive than those of previous years? Never before has the Secretary been able to elicit a single word from Greenough. He regards it as quite an achievement to have finally penetrated the mystery that until now has only been known to readers of the Herald as “W. E. G.” Greenough submits the following, not with any intent of telling everything, but merely by way of identification:

“While various issues of the 1895 Class Book, through my own negligence and indifference, have listed me as retired or as an agriculturist, the cold truth is that ever since I walked out on the Class I have been a newspaper man. For fourteen years I served an invaluable apprenticeship on the Boston Evening Transcript, in several departments. There was one year when H. T. Parker, now dramatic and music editor of the Transcript, and I conducted a New York news bureau for the paper; another year or two when I acted as press agent for a Shubert theatre in Philadelphia. I shall remember that always, for while there I tried futilely to collect from Winthrop Ames, then in the show business, the sum of twenty-five dollars, which one of his publicity agents owed me.

“I did retire temporarily, to a little seacoast haven in Maine — a restful, health-restoring period; and later I migrated to the softer climate of Hyannis, on the Cape. It was so soft that when a call came from the Boston Herald I eagerly boarded a train, and soon found myself in the night city editor's chair. That was back in 1915. For the past two years I have been very happily associated with Philip Hale in the Herald's dramatic department, trying valiantly to keep the enfeebled theatre alive. It's the dod-gasted 'talkies'!

"I am married and have one daughter. I have written no books, received no degrees, held no offices or positions of public trust. Mine is the contented mind of one who likes to turn out copy, to smell printer's ink. The autopsy probably will disclose that fluid as the major element in my tired veins."

RANDOLPH CLARK GREW

Married: Mrs. Helen J. Coffin at Boston, Mass., May 4, 1928.

Occupation: Stockbroker (retired).

Address: (home) 185 Marlborough St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 10 Post Office Sq., Boston, Mass.

How are the mighty fallen! Grew writes:

"My marriage has interested me more than anything else. Also I have adopted my wife's daughter, who is twelve, and this has given me an entirely new and interesting viewpoint. I went abroad for four months after my marriage, and the month Mrs. Grew and I spent at my brother's summer place on the Bosphorus was delightful and instructive."

FRANK WASHBURN GRINNELL

Married: Isabel Morison at Boston, Mass., June 16, 1908. Children: Leslie, May 7, 1911; Frank, Feb. 3, 1914; Charles, May 5, 1919.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 3 Mt. Vernon Sq., Boston, Mass.; (business) 60 State St., Boston, Mass.

IF ever the Secretary finds his job getting too much for him, he will know whom to call in. Grinnell writes:

"Although still nominally a member of the firm of Hale & Dorr, I am not actively engaged in practice, as I am devoting my time to the various organizations for which I act as secretary. These include the Judicial Council of Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Bar Association and the Harvard Law School Association. I am also editor of the Massachusetts Law Quarterly, which takes up a great deal of my time.

“Governor Allen in 1929 appointed me a member of the Special Commission on Motor Vehicle Liability Insurance. That year I was also elected a member of the Massachusetts Historical Society. The only other event of importance that occurs to me was my trip abroad in the summer of 1929, which I spent principally in England.”

GEORGE LIVINGSTONE HAMILTON

Married: Anita Wheelwright Sargent at Boston, Mass., June 15, 1908. Children: Anne Sargent, April 15, 1909; George Livingstone, Jr., June 8, 1914; Violet Sargent, Feb. 1, 1916.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: (home) 316 Fall Creek Drive, Ithaca, N. Y.; (business) Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

THE Secretary doesn't know which give him more trouble, — the professors or the bachelors. And when the two are combined! Fortunately Hamilton does not belong in that category. He writes:

“My daughter, Anne, graduates from Cornell University this coming June. Nothing else worth noting has occurred in the last five years.”

EDWARD HARDING

Married: Alice Howard at New York, N. Y., Oct. 12, 1909.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, N. J.; (business) 44 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

BEING a lawyer himself, the Secretary can appreciate the reason for the terseness of Harding's report. It reads:

“I have been practising law since the last Report. Enough said.”

HARRY FAIRBANKS HARTWELL

Married: Olive M. Barber at London, Eng., 1906 (died Dec. 18, 1925). Children: Joseph Barber, Feb. 24, 1907; Gardiner, Feb. 14, 1909 (died March 8, 1909); Julian Mead, Nov. 16, 1912.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (home) 36 Walnut Park, Newton, Mass.; (business) Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass.

HARTWELL is beginning to live only in his children. He writes:

“My elder son was graduated from Harvard in 1928. He was married last year to Anne Ely Paterson of Baltimore, Md. Nothing has happened to me of any interest.”

WALTER THOMAS HARTZELL

Married: Ruth M. Jones at New York, N. Y., Oct. 21, 1925.

Occupation: Printer and Publisher.

Address: (home) 218 South 16th St., Allentown, Pa.; (business) 631 Hamilton St., Allentown, Pa.

ANOTHER deserter from the ranks! Hartzell writes: “I was married on October 21, 1925, to Ruth M. Jones of New York City. That is my only piece of news.”

Leroy Harvey

Married: Renée de Pelleport du Pont at Wilmington, Del., Jan. 9, 1904 (died Jan. 2, 1927). Children: Alice Hounsfeld, Aug. 3, 1905; Mary Van Dyke, Oct. 13, 1908; Edmund Huxley, July 23, 1911; Sophie Renée de Pelleport, June 8, 1915.

Occupation: Banker and Farmer.

Died: Wilmington, Del., Feb. 15, 1928.

LEROY HARVEY died at Wilmington, Del., on February 15, 1928. He was one of the best known Harvard men of his time, and a leading citizen of Delaware. After receiving his degree in 1894, he spent a year in Europe, studying a part of the time at Leipsic. Then for two years he worked in the shipyard of Harlan & Hollingsworth at Wilmington, and subsequently spent three years in St. Petersburg with the firm of William Ropes & Co. On his return to this country, he took up the manufacture and wholesale merchandising of lumber, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

In 1914 he retired from active business, but later was chosen president of the Farmers' Bank of the State of Delaware in Wilmington. He was elected mayor of Wilmington in 1921 but declined to run again. He also declined the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee of Delaware, to which office he was elected in 1924. He was active and prominent in Harvard affairs and had recently retired from the presidency of the Harvard Club of Delaware.

He was born at Wilmington on April 28, 1873, the son of Huxley H. and Mary L. (Belt) Harvey, and prepared for College at the Friends' School in Wilmington. In 1904 he married Renée DeP. du Pont of Wilmington; she died on January 2, 1927. Four children survive.

NATHAN HAYWARD

Married: Anna Howell Lloyd at Philadelphia, Pa., April 30, 1907.

Children: Anna Howell, Feb. 13, 1908; Nathan, Jr., Oct. 25, 1909; Sarah Howard, July 10, 1913; Malcolm Lloyd, May 15, 1915; Esther, Nov. 10, 1919.

Occupation: Business Executive.

Address: (home) Wayne, Pa.; (business) 308 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

AT last Harvard University is appreciating Hayward at his true worth. His report:

“President of Harvard Club of Philadelphia, from January 1924 to January 1927.

“Vice-President of Associated Harvard Clubs, from May 1927 to May 1929.

“Elected Director of the Harvard Alumni Association in June 1929.

“Elected President of Franklin Institute January 1, 1929.”

GEORGE STUART HENRY

Married: Georgia E. Brookings at Redlands, Calif., Sept. 16, 1909.

Occupation: Engineer.

Address: Vista, San Diego Co., Calif.

THE Secretary understands that Vista, Calif., the irrigation enterprise in which Henry has been so deeply interested, is becoming one of the most important and attractive developments of its kind in Southern California. Henry writes:

“I have continued my association and connection with the development of Vista, Calif. I am also devoting attention to the agricultural situation as affecting general agriculture, but especially irrigated agriculture. Apparently, considerable readjustment in the finances of many of our irrigation enterprises — irrigation and reclamation districts are the favorite vehicle for financing — will be necessary within the coming few years.”

FREDERICK BRACKETT HILL

Married: Edith Pickering Draper at Holyoke, Mass., June 14, 1900. Children: Leroy Draper, March 15, 1901; Frederick Brackett, Jr., Nov. 5, 1903.

Occupation: Treasurer and Editor.

Address: (home) 14 Park St., Brookline, Mass.; (business) 99 Bedford St., Boston, Mass.

AN editorial life does not seem to have had the affect on Hill's disposition that he feared. He writes:

“I am still editing the same notorious economic magazine. Thus far, I have escaped the condemnation of the United States Senate Lobby Investigating Committee. I am keeping happy and cheerful.”

Joseph Delano Hitch

Married: Adeline Van Nostrand Dorr at South Orange, N. J., Oct. 2, 1897. Children: Henry Forster, Oct. 10, 1898 (died June, 1921); Nancy Higginson, April 28, 1901; Joseph Delano, Jr., Jan. 31, 1904; Adeline Van Nostrand, March 22, 1905; John Van Nostrand, July 28, 1907.

Occupation: Banker.

Died: Boston, Mass., Dec. 14, 1925.

JOE HITCH has left us, but in going he leaves behind him a memory and an accomplishment that we who knew him may well envy, and in which our Class may justly take pride. Those of us who saw him most intimately in College valued him for his ready responsiveness, and for a lovable friendliness that made him a welcome companion in work or in play. Like many of the rest of us he was not much of a student, but he had a determination that took the place of scholarship and that later won him a well-earned success and recognition among his associates in Denver, Colo.

His engagement and marriage to Adeline Dorr soon after leaving College was the inspiration of his life. Responsibilities and difficulties followed, but never overwhelmed him. College friends stood by him, and after years of uncertainty and hardship, his honesty of purpose and thorough-going reliability more than justified their faith in him. These same qualities won the absolute confidence of new friends in Denver, where the reliability of his valuation of irrigated farm lands was rated so high that it was accepted without question by banks as well as individuals.

A recognition of this standing in the community that was very dear to his heart, came through his appointment to take charge of the Harvard Endowment Fund in that district. He gave himself so tirelessly to this, as well as to his regular work, that he overtaxed his heart. Coming East to a lower altitude, he spent the last months of his life happily with his family and among those friends whom he so dearly loved in Boston, where he died on December 14, 1925.

W. E.

ARTHUR LAMBERT HOBSON

Married: Alice Carey Gale at Haverhill, Mass., June 10, 1896.

Children: John Lambert, Aug. 17, 1897; Alice Gale, Nov. 2, 1898; Clifford, Aug. 23, 1900 (died Aug. 25, 1900); Arthur Lambert, Jr., Feb. 4, 1902; Katharine Browne, Feb. 23, 1905; Philip Noyes, Dec. 18, 1909.

Occupation: Paper Manufacturer.

Address: (home) 129 Arlington St., Haverhill, Mass.; (business) 244 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

ARTHUR HOBSON is becoming resigned to these periodical reminders that he is growing older. He says:

“Very little has happened to me except the passage of five more years. At the time of the last Report, I was treasurer of the St. Croix Paper Company, but I am now president and my eldest son has succeeded me as treasurer.”

CLASS RECORDS

FREDERICK RICHARD HODGE

Married: Emma R. B. Merrill at Malden, Mass., Sept. 7, 1896.

Children: Frederick Merrill, April 3, 1903; Emily Grace, April 3, 1905.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: 1218 Boylston St., Newton Upper Falls, Mass.

FREDERICK HODGE is principal of the Ralph Waldo Emerson School in Newton, Mass., where he is now rounding out a quarter century of service.

“My interest in the field of public-school education continues,” he says. “The work with boys and girls has a fascination that is beyond description. There is indefinite variety of personality and ability. To watch the unfolding development of child life, to assist it in manifold ways, to make a contribution to the grand total of education is the finer and larger compensation in this field of service.”

WILLIAM F. HODGE

Married: Katharine E. Bailey at Antwerp, N. Y., Aug. 14, 1900 (died Feb. 15, 1925).

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 615 James St., Syracuse, N. Y.; (business) Court House, Syracuse, N. Y.

HODGE had to be content with merely correcting his statistics for this Report. His health has been rather poor during the past four years.

EDWARD JACKSON HOLMES

Married: Mary Stacy Beaman at Windsor, Vt., July 8, 1897.

Occupation: Trustee.

Address: (home) 296 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

SINCE our Thirtieth Report Holmes has been appointed director of the Boston Art Museum. Under his supervision many interesting additions have been made, the most notable of which is undoubtedly the new American Wing-Holmes is not responsible for this item (nor is Mrs. Holmes), but the Secretary was certain that the Report would not be complete without it.

CHARLES TILDEN HOWARD

Married: Amy Carol Rand at Watertown, Mass., June 15, 1911.

Children: Carol, Nov. 7, 1912; Leavitt, Dec. 26, 1913; Polly, Oct. 23, 1915 (died Feb. 23, 1916); Edward, Sept. 6, 1918; Nancy, Nov. 1, 1919; Helen, Jan. 25, 1921.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: 510 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.

RETIREMENT is the last thing these doctors are thinking of. "Nothing different," Howard writes. "I am still practicing Surgery at the Massachusetts Memorial Hospital, and teaching as associate professor of Surgery in the Boston University School of Medicine."

ALBERT REYNOLDS HUIDEKOPER

Occupation: Business Manager.

Address: (home) 681 Terrace St., Meadville, Pa.; (business) 423 Chestnut St., Meadville, Pa.

HUIDEKOPER has always been pretty well tied down by business responsibilities. Now that he has begun to retire, perhaps he will be able to get back for an occasional reunion. He writes:

"Since the last Report my life has been uneventful in every way. I have partially retired. Although I have given up my manufacturing corporation, I am still vice-president of the Merchants National Bank."

EDWARD VERMILYE HUNTINGTON

Married: Susie Edwards Van Volkenburgh at New York, N. Y., July 6, 1909.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: 48 Highland St., Cambridge, Mass.

CLASS RECORDS

No tame European tours for Huntington. When he and his wife feel the urge to travel, they get out their saddle bags, and make for the Great Northwest. Huntington's letter:

"Mrs. Huntington and I have spent each summer since the last Report on a pack-train trip exploring the wilderness of the Canadian Rockies. It is the best sport I know.

"At the moment, I am chairman of the Sub-committee on Mathematics of the National Research Council Science Advisory Committee for the Chicago World's Fair Centennial Celebration in 1933. I am also vice-president and chairman of Section A of the American Association for the Advance of Science.

"My only publications since 1925 have been several articles in mathematical journals, including several on the mathematical aspects of the problem of apportionment of representatives in Congress."

WILLIAM EDWARD HUTTON

Married: Alida Platt Lansing, Denver, Col., June 29, 1899. Children: Katherine, April 12, 1900 (died April 12, 1900); Helen, April 12, 1900; John, April 12, 1900; Charles, March 2, 1902 (died Aug. 12, 1902).

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 909 Oneida St., Denver, Col.; (business) Capitol Life Bldg., Denver, Col.

HUTTON kneels at the shrine of Harvard today as on the day of his graduation. He writes:

"I can scarcely visualize anything in my career or experience since the last Report which justifies publication. My life has been a quiet one, devoted chiefly to my family and my profession. I have had some interest in politics, in the affairs of the Unitarian Church and in other public and general causes. In a business way I have been fairly successful and have enjoyed the freedom that comes from a fair income.

"The infrequency of my contacts with my Classmates and friends of 'Harvard Days', I feel to be a great deprivation. I have, however, through the Harvard Graduates, Magazine and the Bulletin, of which I have always been a subscriber since I left Cambridge, been able to follow the reports of the Secretary and to keep in touch with the published news concerning Ninety-five men, Harvard College and the Law School. I have a personal interest in every Ninety-five man. Harvard means much to me and I shall never cease to be grateful for the days I was privileged to spend at Cambridge."

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

JOHN PERHAM HYLAN

Married: Alice Harriet Wicker at Boston, Mass., Dec. 30, 1903.

Children: Dudley Lyford, Oct. 27, 1904; Mary Champlin, Feb. 22, 1906; Nathan Wicker, July 28, 1907; Horace Wilson, Sept. 2, 1914.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: 97 William St., Stoneham, Mass.

AFTER reading over his confessions of five years ago, Hylan found that there was much less to write about now than he had expected. His letter:

"The almost complete abstention from mental work made necessary for a period of over fifteen years left a psychophysical inertia that has been difficult to overcome. However, I have made progress and have some little things along the line of the psychology of religion ready to publish. If nothing happens during the next twenty-five years to prevent, you may hear from me."

Ellerton James

Married: Olivia B. Tappan, Boston, Mass., July 6, 1898.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Died: Milton, Mass., Feb. 14, 1926.

ELLERTON JAMES was the son of George Abbot and Elizabeth Cabot (Lodge) James. He was born at Nahant on June 28, 1872, and his life was passed at Nahant, Boston and Milton. He entered Harvard in 1891 and took the degree of A. B. in 1895 and LL.B. in 1898. Soon after graduating from the Law School, he married Miss Olivia B. Tappan and settled in Milton, passing his summers at Nahant and engaging in the practice of law in Boston, where for twenty-five years he shared offices with his Classmate Phillips. Such is the brief outline of the facts of James's life.

Possessed of ample means and an established social position, he was under no necessity to work for his own advancement, and many men would have settled down to a life of ease and idleness, but James always regarded his wealth and education as a trust to be used for the benefit of others, and during his lifetime he was a tireless worker for the public welfare in the charities of Boston and in the political life of Nahant. When in 1906 the State decided to open a new institution for the feeble-minded, Governor Guild appointed James one of the original trustees, and for twenty years he actively devoted himself to its welfare. In the original choice of a site, the building of the institution, the selection of officers, and the development of the Wrentham State School into a great institution with nearly fifteen hundred inmates, he had a large part. He took a very keen interest in cases of supposed injustice and devoted an enormous amount of his time and energy to investigating and righting them. Public problems of all sorts interested him and he often contributed to the discussion in trenchant letters to the Boston papers.

His interest in and love for Harvard was great. As in politics, when he felt the College was adopting a policy he did not approve, he fearlessly criticized it, but as soon as the matter was settled, whether in accordance with his view or not, he was always ready to help again. During the War he served as assistant to Major Roger Wolcott in charge of the draft in Massachusetts and had the unpopular duty of looking up delinquents. To the town of Nahant, where he was born and where he passed his summers, and had his legal residence, he devoted much time. He served on all sorts of committees there, to build public buildings, examine town finances, and so forth, and did the work which was once expected of all good citizens, but which is rarely done nowadays by men in his position.

His great avocation was outdoor life and physical exercise. He and his wife had traveled extensively, not only on beaten paths, but in out-of-the-way places in Africa and on long hunting trips in remote parts of Canada. He was an enthusiastic sportsman and next to his public work enjoyed being in the woods. He owned a large tract of woodland near Milton, and enjoyed nothing so much as driving over there and working in the woods when he had a spare afternoon. Few men of his age and class had preserved the ability to take physical exercise that he had. He was an able bowler and an adept with rifle, paddle, axe, or canoe up to the very time of his death. Of his home life it would be an intrusion to speak, but it was singularly happy and delightful, as those of his friends know who were fortunate enough to enjoy a visit at his beautiful home in Milton. His death occurred there from pneumonia on February 14, 1926.

HERBERT FRANKLIN JENKINS

Married: Anne Henszey Bradford at North Abington, Mass., Oct. 8, 1897 (died Nov. 2, 1914); Mrs. Bessie Clark Guptill at Brookline, Mass., Nov. 16, 1921.

Occupation: Publisher.

Address: (home) 6 Claffin Road, Brookline, Mass.; (business) 34 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

JENKINS is busier than ever — and no wonder! He is now vice-president of Little, Brown & Company, publishers of most of our “best sellers.”

“I am doing congenial work,” he writes, “and have no intention of retiring so long as health permits. Frequent travel trips in the United States and abroad, and active interests in clubs, civic affairs and relatives keep one mentally alert. For exercise and recreation — golf.”

ALFRED JOHNSON

Occupation: Author.

Address: 112 Salisbury Road, Brookline, Mass.

ALTHOUGH curtailed by frequent absences from home, Alfred Johnson’s activities continue much the same as usual. He writes:

“Following my last report, I served again on the Brookline Town Committee of Thirty and as a director-at-large of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association and on committees of several societies. During these five years I have published one book, 'Ships and Shipping', a collection of pictures painted by Antoine Roux and his sons, with introductory text by Louis Brès and Edouard Ganbert, translated and annotated by myself and published by the Marine Research Society."

RALPH MILLER JOHNSON

Married: Marie Antoinette Davis at New York, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1907 (died Oct. 10, 1926).

Occupation: Stockbroker (retired).

Address: (home) 850 Park Ave., New York, N. Y.; (business) 706 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

IN 1926 Johnson retired from business to take a leisurely trip around the world with his wife. While in Pekin, China, Mrs. Johnson died of peritonitis. Since returning home Johnson has felt no inclination to re-engage in active work. He writes:

"My winters have been passed in New York City, with the exception of last year when, as a guest of the Admiral of the Pacific Fleet on his flagship, I witnessed the winter manoeuvres in an attack on the Panama Canal. The Canal was defended by its land forces and the Scouting Fleet. Some one hundred and eighty ships were engaged. Summers I have opened the house in Belfast, Maine, and my interest is now in the society of my friends."

FREDERICK CHARLES JONES

Married: Belle Irene Palmer at San Francisco, Calif., April 24, 1906 (died Oct. 12, 1919); Mrs. Julia Wiseman Crum at San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 1, 1922.

Occupation: Chemist.

Address: (home) 3294 Clay St., San Francisco, Calif.; (business) 445 Sutter St., San Francisco, Calif.

IF Jones can find no more to say for himself than what follows, the Secretary will feel impelled to use the obituary notice that he once prepared when Jones had become somewhat involved as a "party deceased".

"Nothing unusual has happened during the past five years," is Jones' solitary comment.

JOHN GLASS KAUFMAN

Married: Mary Loughlin at Sidney, Ohio, Dec. 18, 1900 (died June 1, 1929). Children: John Loughlin, Jan. 21, 1902; Mary Eliza, Aug. 28, 1904; Hannah Esther, Sept. 1, 1906; Daniel Barnet, Feb. 4, 1910.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 6832 Gorsten St., Philadelphia, Pa.; (business) 518 Real Estate Trust Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

THERE have been no "occurrences" for Kaufman during the past five years. So far as his children are concerned — that is a different matter. He writes:

"My two daughters both received the degree of S.B. in Education from Temple University — one in 1927, and the other in 1929. The elder, Mary Elizabeth, is now married. My elder son, John, is also married, and I have a small grandson who has been named after me."

Henry Hawley Keeler

Married: Georgia Goss Townsend at Lysander, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1907. Children: Mary Townsend, June 2, 1910 (died June 15, 1910); Barbara Townsend, Feb. 14, 1915; Hart Rockwell, Nov. 13, 1916; Townsend Dickinson, Jan. 15, 1918; William Aaron, Aug. 13, 1920.

Occupation: Carpenter and Builder.

Died: Ridgefield, Conn., Jan. 1, 1926.

HENRY HAWLEY KEELER died at Ridgefield, Conn., on January 1, 1926. He was born in Ridgefield and spent many of his summers there, but of late years on account of his health had spent the winters in Florida. He was on the point of going South when attacked by pneumonia.

He was very gentle in his makeup, thoughtful of others and inclined to laugh off his own trials and troubles, which led one to think him much happier and healthier than he must have been. He did his thinking under his own hat, and expressed his opinions with a precision and clarity that were a credit to his scientific training.

Thatcher Raymond Kimball

Married: Helen Paine at Boston, Mass., Dec. 27, 1905.

Occupation: Minister.

Died: Boston, Mass., May 7, 1927.

THATCHER RAYMOND KIMBALL died at Boston on May 7, 1927, of angina pectoris, after having only recently returned from a vacation in Hawaii and California. He was a well-known clergyman in the Protestant Episcopal Church, and at the time of his death was rector of the Church of the Epiphany in the Dorchester district of Boston.

After leaving College he studied at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, and the General Theological Seminary in New York City. His first charge was the Church of St. John the Evangelist at Duxbury, Mass., where he remained for about two and a half years. Then he went to St. James Church in West Somerville for a year. In 1902 he became one of the associate ministers at St. Stephen's Church, Boston. After five years in that post, he resigned and went on an extended trip abroad.

In October 1907, he took charge of the Church of the Epiphany, which was then a mission. His health had not been good for some time, and he was usually compelled to live away from New England in the winter. He was born in Boston on September 7, 1871, the son of Samuel H. and Elizabeth (Raymond) Kimball. He prepared for College at the Roxbury Latin School. In 1905 he married Miss Helen Paine of Boston, who survives him.

DELCEVARE KING

Married: Margaret Kemp Ray at Winchester, Mass., June 1, 1922. Children: Marcia Louise, May 17, 1926; Meredith, Oct. 17, 1929.

Occupation: Banker.

Address: (home) 284 Adams St., Quincy, Mass.; (business) Granite Trust Bldg., Quincy, Mass.

KING is in the habit of including miscellaneous matter with his reports. The enclosure this time was by far the most attractive the Secretary has ever received — a snapshot of his "little sweetheart". The Secretary's one regret is that lack of space prevents him from using it. In his letter King tells all about her.

"There have been three outstanding events for me since the last Report — the appearance of my little sweetheart, Marcia Louise (she is now four), the coming of a sister for her some six months ago, and the building of a new home for the Granite Trust Company, to include stores, offices, etc. The Granite Trust Building is of the tower set-back type, and as far as we can learn, the first of this type in so small a building, as it is only ten stories. When passing through Quincy on the way to the South Shore or the Cape, I hope my Classmates will come in and see the rather unusually fine view we have from our 'Hurricane Deck'. I am much interested in Scouting now as well as in Prohibition."

SYDNEY ALLEN LAWTON

Married: Harriet Sheldon at New York, N. Y., June 29, 1901 (divorced July, 1921); Mrs. Margaret Davidson Ware at Stamford, Conn., August, 1921. Children: Sarah Douglas, Oct. 19, 1902; Katherine Whitney, Oct. 14, 1904; Elizabeth Marsland, Nov. 10, 1907; Harriet Sheldon, May 29, 1910.

Occupation: Stockbroker.

Address: (home) Stamford, Conn.; (business) 14 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

LAWTON has been indulging in grandchildren too since our last Report. He writes:

"Nothing of any note has happened to me during the past five years except the advent of two grandchildren: Valentine A. Ely, Jr., born Feb. 14, 1925, and James King Hoyt, Jr., born March 25, 1927."

GIFFORD LeCLEAR

Married: Helen Frances Parker at Boston, Mass., Oct. 15, 1903.

Children: Margaret, July 26, 1909; Donald, Jan. 28, 1911.

Occupation: Architect and Engineer.

Address: (home) 86 Upland Road, Waban, Mass.; (business) 31 St. James Ave., Boston, Mass.

CLASS RECORDS

IF wishes were horses, LeClear would certainly ride. He says:

“No, I have not retired from business, but I wish I had. It is my fundamental interest next to my family, and occupies the greater part of my time. The only other interest I find time for is the Boston Chamber of Commerce, for which I act as director.”

John Hopkins Leete

Married: Edith Payne at Hamilton, N. Y., Dec. 20, 1895. Children: Alexander Payne, March 4, 1903.

Occupation: Library Director.

Died: Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 13, 1929.

JOHNS HOPKINS LEETE was in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences for a year and received the degree of A. B. as of the College Class of 1895. He taught at Pennsylvania State College from 1895 to 1906, holding the positions, successively, of instructor, assistant professor and associate professor of Mathematics, and secretary and registrar.

He then became registrar and a year later assistant director of the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh. From 1908 to 1917, he was Dean of the School of Applied Science at the Institute and in the latter year was appointed director of the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh, which position he occupied until his death.

He was born at Detroit on November 6, 1868, the son of Thomas Towar and Jean (Hopkins) Leete, and prepared at the Detroit High School. In 1895 he married Edith Payne at Hamilton, N. Y. They had one son. Leete died at Ann Arbor, Mich., on October 13, 1929.

JOHN HART LEWIS

Married: Ethel Appleton Fiske Putnam at Cambridge, Mass., April 29, 1903 (died May 19, 1922). Children: Frederic Ward Putnam, Sept. 14, 1908; Esther Orne Putnam, April 8, 1910.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 606 S. Main St., Minot, N. D.; (business) P. O. Box 1324, Minot, N. D.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

LEWIS submits the following as his Swan Song. While acknowledging its timeliness, the Secretary is optimistic enough to prophecy that he will be calling for an encore five years hence. Lewis writes:

“I have not retired because I can't afford to. The only external event of any importance is that I was president of the State Bar Association of North Dakota for one year from September 1928 to September 1929. I have indulged to some extent a hobby for flower raising, especially gladioli. If ‘happy is the country that has no history’, I ought to be supremely happy!

“No offices of public trust have been bestowed upon me except local ones of no importance. I am still referee in bankruptcy. My son took one year at Harvard with the Class of 1930, but is more interested in the piano, and is studying it in Boston. My daughter is a sophomore at the University of North Dakota.”

ALEXANDER LINCOLN

Married: Eleanor Ames at North Easton, Mass., June 22, 1909.

Children: Alexander, May 25, 1910; William, March 22, 1912; Emily, Dec. 9, 1913.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 265 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 53 State St., Boston, Mass.

IF Lincoln had not found time to write a letter for this Report, no one would have been surprised. We all know with what vigor he has been protecting our constitutional liberties both here and in Washington. Long may he be preserved to continue his good work. He writes:

“On February 1, 1930, I joined with John H. Devine and A. Chesley York in an association for practising law under the name of Devine, York & Lincoln. I am interested in the preservation of our ancient liberties and principles of government, and am an officer of the Constitutional Liberty League and Sentinels of the Republic, and a director of the Association against the Prohibition Amendment.”

GEORGE LUTHER LINCOLN

Married: Elizabeth Gulick at Madrid, Spain, July 28, 1910.

Children: One child (not living).

Occupation: Educator.

Address: (home) 2008 Commonwealth Ave., Boston, Mass.; (business) Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.

“SIN NOVEDAD.”

Is there any need to translate Lincoln's contribution?

Edwin Stanton Livingood

Married: Frances Helen Dwight at Chicago, Ill., March 21, 1905.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Died: Atlantic City, N. J., March 22, 1927.

EDWIN STANTON LIVINGOOD died at Atlantic City, N. Y., March 22, 1927, after a long illness. Few of his Classmates were aware of his ill health, for during the last few years of his life he was forced to give up all social contacts. He was born at Reading, Pa., on November 23, 1872, the son of Jacob Seltzer and Lucy Jane (Shalters) Livingood, and prepared for College at St. Paul's School.

PERCIVAL HALL LOMBARD

Married: Isabel Fabyan at Brookline, Mass., June 10, 1908.

Children: Rosamond, June 16, 1909; George Francis Fabyan, Jan. 31, 1911; Percival Hall, Jr., Nov. 8, 1914.

Occupation: Farmer.

Address: (home) 619 Boylston St., Brookline, Mass.; (business) Forestdale, Mass.

L OMBARD's letter ought to be printed in italics or large caps.

“In April 1927,” it begins, “I suffered a severe heart attack but managed to pull through. Since then I have had to cut down active work about one half and am keeping out of mischief by turning antiquarian. Advice to Classmates: slow down before you are obliged to.”

FREDERIC REEVES LORING

Occupation: Private Tutor.

Address: Winsor Road, Duxbury, Mass.

NO wonder Loring continues to observe life with a "philosophical, tranquil state of mind". Even the Secretary would under such circumstances. Loring's letter:

"I am still teaching as a private tutor at my home in Duxbury. The house is situated on the shore of Duxbury Bay, and looks across to the historic Gurnet Light and Clark's Island and the Manomet hills. Although circumscribed by the rim of the ocean beyond the long beach, my life provides me with many simple pleasures and much beauty. The work with young people adds a touch of variety. I find no difficulty in continuing to take the world in a philosophical and tranquil state of mind."

FREDERICK McKENDRIE LOWE

Married: Mary Myrtle Osborne at Warrensburg, Mo., June 6, 1907.

Occupation: Physician (retired).

Address: 2914 Tracy Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

THE Secretary is sorry to have to report that Lowe's vision has been failing him during the past five years. He has had to give up practically all his medical affiliations.

FREDERICK ELDRIDGE LOWELL

Married: Isabel Pelham Shaw at Boston, Mass., April 30, 1903.

Children: Mariana, May 28, 1904; Alice, April 16, 1906;

Francis Cabot, Aug. 6, 1909; Frederick Eldridge, Jr., Jan. 18, 1911.

Occupation: Trustee (retired).

Address: (home) Garfield Road, Concord, Mass.; (business) c/o Joseph Sargent, Esq., Ames Bldg., Boston, Mass.

IT is really time that Lowell's occupation was changed from "trustee (retired)" to "painter". The transformation occurred eight years ago and certainly shows every sign of being permanent.

"Nothing new," Lowell writes. "Still painting."

CLASS RECORDS

Henry Eastman Lower

Occupation: Librarian.

Died: Silver Spring, Md., Feb. 17, 1929.

HENRY EASTMAN LOWER died at Silver Spring, Md., on February 17, 1929. For almost thirty years he had been in charge of the main reading room in the Library of Congress at Washington, D. C. Although while in College he had preferred to look forward to a life of activity, yet he found his work unusually congenial. "I doubt if many men have gotten more joy out of life than I have," he wrote in our Thirtieth Report. He was born at Cleveland, Ohio, on January 12, 1872, the son of Henry and Sophia L. (Kennedy) Lower, and prepared for College at the West High School in that city.

MARK LEE LUTHER

Married: Grace Montagu Richmond at New York, N. Y., April 8, 1901.

Occupation: Author.

Address: 521 S. Catalina St., Los Angeles, Calif.

LUTHER has become the fond companion of the Tired Business Man. His latest book, "Card Thirteen", was the February selection of the Detective Story Club.

"Since 1925 I have lived chiefly in Southern California," he writes. "During that time I have published two novels: 'The Clean Up' in 1926, and 'Card 13', in collaboration with Lillian C. Ford, early this year."

Willis Lyman

Occupation: School Teacher.

Died: Stamford, Conn., March 3, 1929.

WILLIS LYMAN died at Stamford, Conn., on March 3, 1929. He was a school teacher and had been connected with the Irving School in New York City, the Hackley School at Tarrytown, and, for ten years preceding his death, the King School in Stamford. The Secretary had not heard from him directly for a number of years.

DANIEL EDGAR LYNCH

Married: Josephine M. Blanchfield at Brooklyn, N. Y., June 4, 1902. Children: Daniel E., Jr., May 23, 1905; James, Dec. 7, 1909; Ellen Blanchfield, Sept. 18, 1915.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) Forest Hills, Long Island, N. Y.; (business) 25 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

PRAISE God for Daniel, Jr.!
“My only piece of news,” Lynch writes, “is the graduation of my elder son, Daniel Lynch, Jr., from Harvard with the Class of 1927.”

Charles Reed Lyon

Married: Maude Janet Smibert at Chicago, Ill., June 20, 1900 (died Nov. 12, 1906); Katherine Nash at Chicago, Ill., March 16, 1915.

Occupation: Real Estate Agent.

Died: Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 19, 1929.

CHARLES REED LYON died at Waukegan, Ill., on February 19, 1929. He had been for some years in the real-estate business in Waukegan. When he left College, at the end of his sophomore year, he joined his father in carrying on a department store in Waukegan, but in 1915 he retired and took up the development of real estate. It had been his practice to spend the winters in California.

He was born at Waukegan on December 18, 1870, the son of George R. and Philippa (Yeoman) Lyon, and prepared at Riverview Academy, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In 1900 he married Maude J. Smibert of Chicago; she died in 1906. In 1915 he married Katherine Nash of Chicago.

JOHN SHERWOOD McLUCAS

Married: Virginia McCabe Brewer at Louisville, Ky., June 29, 1911. Children: John Dhu, May 30, 1912.

Occupation: English Teacher.

Address: (home) 775 Fourteenth St., Boulder, Colo.; (business) University of Colorado, Boulder, Colo.

CLASS RECORDS

NO need this time for McLucas to hide the Secretary's letter in an effort to get rid of it. It was too easily answered.

"Nothing of importance since last Report," was the sum and substance.

ALBERT MANN

Married: Helen Lacy Baker at Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1902. Children: Howard Baker, July 28, 1906.

Occupation: Merchant (retired).

Address: (home) 45 Sewall St., West Newton, Mass.; (business) 10 High St., Boston, Mass.

PERHAPS Mann does not "choose" to tell us all. "For brevity Cal has nothing on me," he says. "The only question I found to answer on your blank was that I had retired."

WILLIAM AUDLEY MARSHALL

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: Lindale, Ga.

SOMEONE once remarked that there were three kinds of lies—"lies, damnable lies, and statistics". There is not the slightest doubt in which class Marshall's report belongs, for statistics are all he submits.

GEORGE ADAMS MARTIN

Married: Clara Florence Hamilton at San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 12, 1900. Children: Florence Hamilton, Jan. 22, 1902; Margaret, May 10, 1907.

Occupation: Insurance Broker (retired).

Address: Grand Ave., San Rafael, Calif.

LET us hope that Martin's doctor has prescribed a trip East this summer, to include the Thirty-fifth Celebration. That would give Martin a new lease on life. He writes:

"I have been struggling with high blood-pressure and ill health for six or seven years. When possible I take sea trips — to New Zealand, Australia, Honolulu, through the Panama Canal several times, and to Bermuda.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“My elder daughter, Florence, graduated with honors from Bryn Mawr College in 1923; my other daughter, Margaret, will graduate from Bryn Mawr this June. Florence was married on my twenty-fifth wedding anniversary to Rodney Chase of Waterbury, Conn., and I now can boast of two grandchildren.”

DANIEL GREGORY MASON

Married: Mary Lord Taintor at New York, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1904.

Occupation: Musician.

Address: (home) 149 East 40th St., New York, N. Y.; (business)
Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

MASON has, as usual, been adding distinction to the Class. He received the honorary degree of Litt.D. from Tufts College in 1929. He has been made MacDowell Professor of Music at Columbia University. He has published a symphony (No. 2), which has been very highly praised, and two books, “Artistic Ideals” and “The Dilemma of American Music”.

VALENTINE HORTON MAY

Occupation: Lumber Manufacturer.

Address: (home) University Club, Seattle, Wash.; (business)
1210 Hoge Bldg., Seattle, Wash.

“Do you still continue to use only five candles on your birthday cakes?” the Secretary asked May. “Or have you stopped celebrating birthdays now that you have risen to the dignity of president?” On both points, however, May maintained an impenetrable silence. His letter:

“I have continued in active management of the McKenna Lumber Company, an operating company both in logging and in lumber manufacture. I am now president of the company. The only other item of interest is that I took a short trip to the Mediterranean, France and England in 1928.”

JOHN HANSON MEADER

Married: Nelle Helene Wooton at Boston, Mass., April 18, 1900.
Children: John Stuart, Nov. 13, 1902; Margery, March 11, 1909
(died Oct. 7, 1911); Elizabeth, Sept. 27, 1911.

Occupation: Superintendent.

Address: (home) 3510 Lancaster Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.; (business)
3518 Lancaster Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.

DURING the past five years Meader has continued his work for the blind. He has recently been appointed on a commission to study conditions of the blind in Pennsylvania and to recommend legislation.

"My life has continued without much change," he writes. "The work for the blind occupies most of my time. Of much pleasure to me were two trips to Europe, one in 1925 to England, France and Switzerland, and one in 1926 to Italy."

EDWIN GODFREY MERRILL

Married: Adelaide Isabel Katte at Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., Jan. 21, 1902. Children: Edwin Katte, Nov. 22, 1902; Dudley, Feb. 3, 1904; Adele Katte, Aug. 2, 1909; Priscilla Godfrey, June 21, 1915; Elizabeth Britton, March 25, 1917.

Occupation: Bank President.

Address: (home) "Merlebrook," Bedford Hills, N. Y.; (business)
48 Wall St., New York, N. Y.

MERRILL is a man after the Secretary's own heart. He not only answered every question on the blank, but added an interesting comment as well.

"The only unusual thing that has come to me since the last Report," it begins, "was an invitation to deliver the Commencement address at the University of Maine in June 1928. I took as a subject 'After Commencement — in Time of Prosperity', and had an extremely pleasant time in talking to the graduating class. The University authorities were good enough to give me an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws."

FRANK WHITE MERRIMAN

Married: Edith Wilder Poole at Somerville, Mass., May 22, 1906.
Children: Lockwood, Dec. 9, 1913; Franklin, Nov. 29, 1917.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: 185 Amory St., Boston, Mass.

MERRIMAN has contributed nothing but statistics to this Report.

CHARLES HENRY MILLS

Married: Mary Gertrude Fulton at New York, N. Y., July 10, 1905. Children: Arthur, March 10, 1907; Charles Henry, Jr., Jan. 27, 1915.

Occupation: Banker and Broker.

Address: (home) Staten Island, N. Y.; (business) 50 Broad St., New York, N. Y.

“At length I realize,” he said,
“The bitterness of life!”

THE sentiments of the man who thought he saw an elephant and discovered that it was a letter from his wife are as nothing compared to Mills' feelings when he receives a letter from the Secretary.

“The only thing that I can find to tell you,” he says, “is that my elder son was graduated from Harvard in 1929.”

CHARLES WILSON MILLS

Married: Florence Naomi McNeil at Cambridge, Mass., May 12, 1902. Children: Alice Elizabeth, June 19, 1903; Margaret Naomi, June 7, 1907; Charles Wilson, Jr., July 13, 1909; Robert Johnson, Jan. 4, 1911; Ruth Elinor, July 2, 1915; Florence Lucile, Aug. 3, 1917.

Occupation: Electrical Engineer and Contractor.

Address: (home) 37a Brattle St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 75 Newbury St., Boston, Mass.

LETTER writers are born — not made, the Secretary has decided. To think that the years he has labored over Charles Mills should have resulted only in this:

“Nothing has happened to me that would be of interest to Ninety-five.”

CLASS RECORDS

GEORGE THOMAS MOORE

Married: Emma Lisa Hall at Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 30, 1896.
Children: Harriet Hall, Sept. 21, 1904; Thomas Gaunt, Sept. 15, 1906.

Occupation: Director and Teacher.

Address: Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis, Mo.

IF the Secretary runs out of material for this Report, he will know to whom to turn. Moore writes:

“Aside from the debut and marriage of my daughter, the acquisition of every kind of grandchild there is, and the successful graduation of my son from Harvard, nothing much has happened in the last five years. I did have six months abroad with Mrs. Moore, doing both sides of the Mediterranean as far as Constantinople, with three months in England visiting gardens.

“My chief interest during this period has been developing a sixteen-hundred-acre extension, thirty-eight miles out of the city, for the Missouri Botanical Garden. I could fill the entire Thirty-fifth Report on this subject.”

JAMES HARVEY MOORE

Occupation: Chemist.

NOTHING out of the ordinary has happened to Moore during the last five years.

HENRY WARREN MORSE

LEONARD BOWDOIN MOULTON

Married: Nina Fowler at Springfield, Mass., June 26, 1902.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 7 Danville St., West Roxbury, Mass.; (business)
High School of Commerce, Boston, Mass.

LIKEWISE ditto.

WILLIAM BROOKS MOULTON

Married: Alice Grady at Stratford, Ontario, Can., July 22, 1914.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 1161 Pine St., Winnetka, Ill.; (business) 105 S.
La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

WE are not surprised at all that the model village of the United States should have chosen a "Ninety-five" man for its president. Moulton writes:

"Nothing of general interest has happened to me during the past five years. The fact that I am president of my Village of Winnetka (a suburb of Chicago) is of no special interest except that the village itself has been called the model village of the United States by the Economic Department of Northwestern University, and in the November (1929) number of The National Municipal League it is described in an article entitled 'Winnetka, The Model Village'. I expect to get back for the 'Thirty-fifth'."

FREDERICK HAPGOOD NASH

Married: Mary Franz Rich at West Acton, Mass., June 26, 1899.

Children: Mary Elizabeth, June 28, 1900; Edward Knowlton, July 11, 1901; Margaret, Oct. 7, 1904.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) South Ave., Weston, Mass.; (business) 30 State St., Boston, Mass.

ALL that the Secretary can show for the past five years is grandchildren. Although he cannot qualify chronologically as the Class Grandfather, yet if quantity is any distinction, he should certainly receive honorable mention.

CLASS RECORDS

RICHARD WAYNE NEFF

Married: Laura F. Rice at Houston, Tex., March 2, 1926. Children: Richard Wayne, Jr., March 7, 1928.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: 2304 Crawford St., Houston, Tex.

THIS is the first time Neff has been heard from in fifteen years. He evidently doesn't believe in writing unless he has something to say. His letter:

"Some five years ago I retired from business and moved from Cincinnati to Houston, becoming a citizen of Texas. On March 2, 1926, I was married to Laura F. Rice of Houston. A son was born to us two years later, who has been named Richard Wayne, Jr."

PHILIP NICHOLS

Married: Mabel Gibson at Roxbury, Mass., June 26, 1906. Children: Philip, Aug. 11, 1907; Katharine, July 7, 1910; Margaret, May 20, 1913.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 234 Park St., Newton, Mass.; (business) 20 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

NICHOLS' interest in matters of municipal and constitutional law is as keen as ever. He has become widely known as an authority in both branches.

"I have given the course on 'Municipal Corporations' at the Boston University Law School during the last three years," he writes. "In the summer of 1928 I attended the International City Planning Conference at Paris, and subsequently made a trip through Spain with a small group of City Planners. I have been for the last two or three years chairman of the Committee on Legislation of the Massachusetts Bar Association, and chairman of the Committee on Taxation of the Boston Chamber of Commerce."

LEE JAMES NINDE

Married: Joel Abbot Roberts at Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 8, 1900 (died March 7, 1916); Helena Marie Emmett, June 28, 1917. Children: Robert Emmett, April 28, 1919; Lee James, Jr., Oct. 13, 1921; Helen Mary, June 12, 1923.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Occupation: Realtor and Developer.

Address: (home) 1702 Hawthorne Rd., Fort Wayne, Ind.; (business) 905 First National Bank Bldg., Fort Wayne, Ind.

NINDE feels justified in resting on his laurels for this Report. After the various "additions" he contributed five years ago, we are not surprised.

PHILO GATES NOON

Married: Nellie Olson at Everett, Mass., Jan. 1, 1900. Children: Eleanor Maria, April 19, 1908; Alfred Manwaring, May 14, 1910 (died Oct. 1, 1911).

Occupation: Minister.

Address: 228 Mason Ter., Brookline, Mass.

ALL his life Philo Noon has been taken for a clergyman, but it is only during the past five years that he has been able to act the part. In his letter he tells how he has enjoyed it.

"At the time of our last Report," he begins, "I was minister of the Congregational Church in Dallas City, Ill., just starting out in a new profession. My work there was followed by two years at Reinbeck, Ia. Next came a year of study, partly in the Chicago Theological Seminary (Congregational), which is affiliated with the University of Chicago, and partly at Harvard. In March 1928, I was called to the pastorate of two Congregational churches on Cape Cod, in Centerville and West Barnstable. The latter church is historic; it was organized in London in 1616, and the building now in use was erected in 1717.

"I am very fond of the Middle West. The prairies helped me to recover from the overstrain of city teaching, and gave me a start in the profession which was my boyhood choice, when once before I lived in the Mississippi Valley region. I greatly admire the young people of today of high-school age. Both in Iowa and on Cape Cod I found them ready to accept the spiritual program of the church."

JOHN LEONARD NORTON

Occupation: Financier.

Address: (home) 440 N. Orange Grove Ave., Los Angeles, Calif., (business) 904 I. N. Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

CLASS RECORDS

IT has taken Norton fifteen years to effect his regeneration. At the time of our "Twenty-fifth" he was lost; five years ago he was not heard from; and for this Report he submits the following:

"During all these years I have given my attention almost entirely to the financing of manufacturing and industrial enterprises in Southern California."

CARLETON ELDREDGE NOYES

Married: Mary Charlotte Metcalfe at New York, N. Y., June 1, 1907.

Occupation: Author.

Address: 30 Francis Ave., Cambridge, Mass.

FROM the evidence Carleton Noyes submits he might very well change his occupation to "traveler".

"Since 1925," he begins, "I have made a trip around the world, reaching as far south as New Zealand, Tasmania and Australia. I have also spent some months in the Canadian Rockies and in Europe, chiefly Italy. Beyond this, there is, happily, nothing to report."

WILLIAM BICKNELL NOYES

Married: Susie Ethel Dow at Farmington, N. H., Aug. 19, 1897.
Children: Russell Dow, Nov. 18, 1898.

Occupation: School Superintendent.

Address: 63 High St., East Haven, Conn.

WILLIAM NOYES hopes that his entry into the grandfather class will be postponed as long as possible. He writes: "Nothing special to report. Plodding along. Keeping young. Still no gray hairs or other signs of becoming a grandfather."

HARVEY OFFICER

Occupation: Musician.

Address: 9 East 59th St., New York, N. Y.

OFFICER, it will be remembered, resigned from the Order of the Holy Cross shortly after our Twenty-fifth Celebration. Since that time he has been devoting himself to the study of music.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“I am now teaching music, history and musical theory at the American Institute of Dalcroze Eurhythmics,” he writes. “I am enjoying my work very much, and have never regretted the change I made. During the past five years I have published one book in collaboration, entitled ‘Folk Songs of the Four Seasons’.”

RAPHAEL DORMAN O'LEARY

Married: Mathilde Augusta Henrichs at Humboldt, Kan., Aug. 19, 1896. Children: Dorman Henrichs, June 23, 1897; Paul Martin, Nov. 29, 1901; Theodore Morgan, Dec. 28, 1910.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: (home) 1106 Louisiana St., Lawrence, Kan.; (business) University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.

NO one will begrudge O'Leary the news he has to tell. “My family consists of three sons,” he begins. “Two of them have already graduated from the University of Kansas, and the youngest, Theodore, is now a sophomore. He is a member of the basket ball team, and last year spent a considerable part of the summer in Europe. The most exciting event in the recent history of the family was the bad accident in which he and his brother, Dorman, were involved, on his return home. Dorman had met Theodore's boat, and they were driving back in Dorman's car, when they collided with a bus, thirty miles west of Indianapolis. Their car was hurled down an embankment of perhaps twenty feet, and was totally wrecked. Both were pretty badly hurt, but they are now fully recovered, with no visible marks of the accident except a scar on Dorman's forehead. They were in the front seat, Dorman driving. Two young men, friends, riding with them in the back seat, were uninjured.”

GALE BENTON ORWIG

Occupation: Newspaper Publisher.

Address: 123 W. Washington St., Napoleon, Ohio.

CLASS RECORDS

ORWIG has been in the publishing business ever since he left Harvard in the summer of 1893. His only comment with regard to this situation is: "Nothing new."

EDWARD SAMUEL PAGE

Married: Susie May Flint at Melrose, Mass., June 22, 1898.
Children: Dorothy Flint, March 19, 1899; Frances Hibbard, Sept. 16, 1901; Priscilla Pinchon, June 26, 1904; Edward Flint, March 8, 1912.

Occupation: Wholesale Jeweler.

Address: (home) 270 Porter St., Melrose, Mass.; (business) 373 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

MANY things have happened to Page during the past five years, but nothing of "general interest". It is a pity that he wouldn't let us be the judges.

TORRANCE PARKER

Married: Jessie Southard at Boston, Mass., Oct. 22, 1896. Children: Katharine, Oct. 10, 1901; Torrance, Jr., Nov. 2, 1904 (died July 20, 1924).

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 40 Hillcrest Road, Belmont, Mass.; (business) 27 Kilby St., Boston, Mass.

THE road is very plainly marked for Torrance Parker. His report:

"Work in my profession. Service on various town boards. Service in my church. Normal life and activity for middle age."

William Samuel Patten

Married: Anna Morton Thayer at Lancaster, Mass., June 16, 1904. Children: Anna Thayer, March 29, 1905; Jane Hunnewell, May 8, 1906; William Samuel, Dec. 28, 1909; Arthur Nathaniel, Feb. 12, 1916.

Occupation: Contractor.

Died: Boston, Mass., Dec. 6, 1927.

BILLY PATTEN, as he was generally called, had an unusually wide circle of friends. Few, if any, of his Classmates did not know him, and there must have been few to whom at some time he had not given pleasure. His friendships were not, however, limited to Classmates. They included men and women of all ages, and many children, for there was never a child who came within the range of his genial influence who did not love him. These friendships were not accidental, but the direct result of his personality. No one was ever more human. He had a keen perception, a quick mind, and a most delightful wit. He was warm-hearted, sympathetic, loyal and companionable. He said once he had never been bored in his life, and he certainly never bored others. If he had achieved nothing else, the fun and pleasure he gave to those who knew him, alone would have constituted success.

In addition to friendships and social activities, he led a busy life. For years he was treasurer of Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins Corporation, general contractors. His work took him into different parts of the United States and into several foreign countries. He spent about a year in 1915-16 in Russia. While this was before the Russian Revolution, conditions were not easy, and he became seriously sick. He was sent home and after some time recovered, although what he suffered then was probably in large measure responsible for his early death. In 1915 he had been connected with the American Relief Clearing House in Paris; in 1917 he became attached to the Red Cross in Paris; in 1918 he was made Deputy Commissioner of the Red Cross in England; in August 1918 he passed his physical examination, attained the rank of Captain and was made Assistant Military Attaché to the American Embassy in London. His war record in these various positions was first-class. He was useful and helpful, and his work in England was so conspicuous that he was decorated with the British Military Cross.

Always active, interested and popular, a thorough sportsman and a good friend, his death is a loss to many more people than is the death of the ordinary man. He died on December 6, 1927, after an illness of several months.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) Brush Hill Road, Milton, Mass.; (business) 70 State St., Boston, Mass.

NO one but Rodman Peabody would dare to mention railroads and Greece in the same breath. His letter:

"I have continued the general practice of law, which has brought me into pleasant association with the problems of railroads and power companies in Massachusetts.

"I have found an interesting and stimulating avocation in the presidency of the Trustees of the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. This in turn leads to absorbing interest in the excavations of ancient Greece.”

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

Edward Luther Perry

Married: Jemima Pauline Holman at St. Louis, Mo., June 17, 1897. Children: Edward Luther, April 21, 1898; Jemima Pauline Dec. 15, 1899; Baker Holman, June 15, 1901.

In 1905 he took up the pharmaceutical manufacturing business and was for many years with the Walker Company in Pharmacal, St. Louis.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 310 South St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.; (business) 1 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

ANDREW PETERS had decided that Class Reports have one advantage over other forms of address. You can at least be certain of finishing your discourse without interruption. He writes:

CLASS RECORDS

“My time since the last Report has been spent in the practice of law, as president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and as a member of the board of trustees of several institutions. Liberal vacations have enabled me to see more of my family and also of this Country.”

PHILIP DeWITT PHAIR

Married: Bertha McIntyre at Presque Isle, Me., Jan. 2, 1905.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: Presque Isle, Me.

As soon as the geese fly north in the spring, Phair begins to count the days until he can start for Cambridge. He is looking forward to having as good a time this year as he did at the “Twenty-fifth”.

JAMES PETER PHELAN

Married: Helen Cecelia Dempsey at Lowell, Mass., Nov. 21, 1900.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: 55 Shore Drive, Lynn, Mass.

FOR twenty-five years Phelan has had nothing to add to “former” reports. He now contributes one word—“Yes.” This in reply to the question, Have you retired from business?

ARTHUR STANWOOD PIER

Married: Elise Riché Hall at Boston, Mass., Nov. 4, 1909 (died March 25, 1922). Children: Mary, April 4, 1911 (died April 7, 1911); Arthur Stanwood, Jr., Nov. 27, 1912; Richard, May 15, 1915 (died May 15, 1915); Rosamond, Dec. 8, 1916.

Occupation: Author and Teacher.

Address: Brush Hill Road, Hyde Park, Mass.

ARTHUR PIER’s report concerns not the past, but the future.

“In September,” he writes, “I shall go to St. Paul’s School, Concord, N. H., to teach English for five years. I am looking forward to the work with much pleasure.”

CHARLES SUMNER PIERCE

Married: Caroline Ware Merriam at Weston, Mass., March 7, 1908 (died April 23, 1918). Children: Henry Lillie, Jan. 2, 1909; Caroline Merriam, April 23, 1918.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 224 Adams St., Milton, Mass.; (business) 50 Oliver St., Boston, Mass.

EVEN if Pierce had not sent in a Report, the Secretary would have forgiven him, for when Ames succumbed to the wiles of Hollywood and withdrew his invitation to entertain the Class this year, it was Pierce who came to the rescue and offered his hospitality as a substitute. By way of good measure the following:

“I have gone quietly along, trying to do the day’s work for the Telephone Company and for others who have looked to me for advice. My health has been good, and I have enjoyed life.”

HORACE DAVIS PILLSBURY

Married: Elizabeth Taylor at Boston, Mass., May 4, 1898. Children: Olivia, March 27, 1899; Evans Searle, 2d, Sept. 26, 1903; Taylor, Sept. 27, 1906; Margaret Taylor, Sept. 8, 1914.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 2838 Pacific Ave., San Francisco, Calif.; (business) Standard Oil Bldg., San Francisco, Calif.

PILLSBURY did not realize until he started to fill out the questionnaire what an uninteresting life he had been leading during the past five years.

“It just seems to be one busy day after another,” he says.

RALPH SHAW PITTS

Married: Inez Eugenie MacCallum at Newton Highlands, Mass., Nov. 28, 1895. Children: Ralph Eugene, Sept. 22, 1896 (died Dec. 1, 1897); Inez Magnolia, Oct. 28, 1899; Rolf MacCallum, Oct. 28, 1899; Ruth Hammond, April 11, 1905; Malcolm Everett, July 25, 1909.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Teacher and Camp Director.

Address: (home) 1283 Milwaukee St., Denver, Colo.; (business) East Side High School, Denver Colo.; (summer) Camp Pitts, Eldora, Colo.

TIME was when Pitts used to wire the Secretary upon the advent of a grandchild, but now it has become such a common occurrence that a summary at the end of five years is all that is necessary.

“Since our ‘Thirtieth,’” Pitts begins, “I have been presented with five grandchildren — three boys and two girls. My elder son is responsible for two of the boys, and my elder daughter for the rest. All of my children are married, except the youngest, and he expects to graduate from Harvard this June.”

EUGENE HILLHOUSE POOL

Married: Esther Phillips Hoppin at New York, N. Y., in 1904.
Children: James Lawrence, Aug. 23, 1906; Beekman, Nov. 23, 1909.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: 107 East 60th St., New York, N. Y.

PPOOL is too busy writing medical books to indulge in other forms of literature. Since our Thirtieth Report he has published “Surgery at the New York Hospital 100 Years Ago”. His elder son was graduated from Harvard in 1928 and the other one is enrolled in the class of 1932.

FRANKLIN OSBORNE POOLE

Married: Helen Bigelow Kendall at Malden, Mass., Sept. 25, 1901.
Children: Franklin Osborne, Jr., Feb. 1, 1903; Thornton Brodhead, July 12, 1904; Mary Rebecca, June 6, 1907; Charles Bigelow Kendall, Jan. 4, 1911.

Occupation: Librarian.

Address: (home) Jefferson Valley, Westchester Co., N. Y.; (business) 42 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.

THE only member of the family Poole forgot to mention was the cat. In spite of which omission, the Secretary considers Poole’s letter a model of perfection.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“My eldest son is running the farm where we now live in Jefferson Valley, Westchester County. He was married a year and a half ago. My second son, Thornton, entered Harvard with the class of 1927 and remained in College two years. He is now in the Group Division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at the home office. My daughter is taking a training course looking to become a registered nurse. My youngest, Charles, is in the Peekskill High School preparing to enter one of the New York State agricultural schools, probably the one at Cornell. My wife and I are enjoying good health and hope to be in Cambridge June 16th and 17th.”

JAMES FOSTER PORTER

Married: Ruth Wadsworth Furness at Chicago, Ill., June 16, 1898.

Children: Nancy Foster, Jan. 5, 1900; Eliot Furness, Dec. 6, 1901; Edward Clark, Feb. 10, 1904; Fairfield Wadsworth, June 10, 1907; John Foster, Nov. 2, 1910.

Occupation: Trustee.

Address: (home) 1085 Sheridan Road, Hubbard Woods, Ill.; (business) 105 W. Adams St., Chicago, Ill.

PORTER is looking forward to the time when he can consider the education of his children complete. Four of them have already received their A. B.'s, so it would seem as if that day were not far distant. Harvard has been the major benefactor, for two of them have followed in their father's footsteps.

FREDERIC RICHARD POW

Occupation: Bank President.

Address: (home) 325 Lincoln Ave., Salem, Ohio; (business) First National Bank, Salem, Ohio.

THE Secretary is seriously considering dropping the bachelors from these Reports, or at least carrying them on a sort of inactive list. For of what use is it to send them questionnaires? Pow's notation is typical of them all:

“No additions or corrections.”

CLASS RECORDS

James Sturgis Pray

Married: Florence Mabel Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 30, 1901.

Children: Benjamin Sturgis, Jan. 24, 1904; Frances Motley, Aug. 22, 1906.

Occupation: Landscape Architect and Educator.

Died: Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 22, 1929.

JAMES STURGIS PRAY, Charles Eliot Professor of Landscape Architecture, was born in Boston in 1871, the son of Benjamin Sweetzer and Francis Motley (Gavett) Pray. He prepared at the Chauncey Hall School and entered Harvard in 1891. In 1894 he withdrew because of poor health, but returned two years later, and in 1898 received the degree of A. B., "as of 1895". During his last two years at Harvard, he followed special studies at the Lawrence Scientific School and the Bussey Institute, leading to the then new profession of landscape architecture.

From October 1898 until April 1903, he was in the office of Olmsted Brothers. Among the projects with which he was concerned while there were the studies started under the late Charles Eliot for the development of the present Middlesex Fells Reservation, a part of the Metropolitan Park system. Leaving the Olmsted firm in 1903, he opened his own office in Boston; in 1905 the firm became Pray & Gallagher, and from 1906 until 1918, Pray, Hubbard & White. He retired from active practice in the latter year, although he had not been really active for some time, but had devoted his energies to the School of Landscape Architecture at Harvard. During the World War, however, with other members of his profession he served the Government in the designing of cantonments and of housing for war workers.

Pray's work for twenty years as chairman of the School of Landscape Architecture covered the early growth and development of professional instruction. In October 1902 he was appointed assistant in Landscape Architecture, the course being developed at that time under the direction of F. L. Olmsted, Jr. Various other appointments followed until in 1913 he was made chairman of the Council of the School of Landscape Architecture. He carried on these duties until 1928 when he was forced to resign on account of poor health.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

In 1915, on the resignation of Mr. Olmsted, he was appointed Charles Eliot Professor of Landscape Architecture, which position he occupied until his death.

Pray was a pioneer in his profession. His chief interest was the advancement of landscape architecture as one of the Fine Arts. He labored constantly toward this end, and his influence came to be felt not only in Cambridge and New England, but in the country at large. Commenting on this phase of his work, one eminent journal says:

“Many methods of instruction now regarded almost as standards were worked out by experiment in those days of beginnings, and the very status of the profession as a fine art, now generally accepted, was at first something to be explained and maintained, often against much inertia and misunderstanding. In this pioneering work Mr. Pray had a leading hand. His aims and ideals have been spread most effectively into other institutions through the graduates of the Harvard School. At the time of his death twenty-five former students of his were teaching landscape architecture at fourteen colleges and institutions, and the heads of six professional undergraduate schools were holders of the Harvard Master’s Degree. . . .

“In the fall of 1909, in response to a strong demand from the students, he gave the first course in city-planning instruction offered in this country; this was the beginning of a consistent sequence of instruction in this special field which was recognized by a special degree at Harvard in 1923. In many colleges throughout the country also, instruction in city planning thus initiated, has now been accepted as a desirable part of a general education; and to this more widespread academic recognition of the field, Mr. Pray’s leadership at Harvard gave an early and lasting impetus.”

HENRY WASHINGTON PRESCOTT

Married: Clara Walton at Los Angeles, Calif., April 27, 1905.

Stephen, Sept. 18, 1911; Richard, Feb. 8, 1917.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill.

CLASS RECORDS

PRESCOTT is not certain whether the word "fair" is still applicable to him, but he is certainly "flourishing". In 1927 he published a book on "The Development of Virgil's Art". His eldest son was graduated from Stanford University last June.

WILFRED HORACE PRICE

Married: Emma Burleigh Chase at Laconia, N. H., April 4, 1900.

Children: Barbara, Feb. 9, 1907; Carol, Dec. 23, 1913.

Occupation: School Superintendent.

Address: (home) 92 Marshall St., Watertown, Mass.; (business) 7 Church St., Watertown, Mass.

No one would dare mention retirement in Price's presence. His letter:

"Our school system has grown rapidly in the past ten years. We have several new school buildings. I have been asked each year for the past two years to show our buildings to the students enrolled in the Graduate School of Education at Harvard. Our schools will play an important part in the Tercentenary.

"My daughter, Barbara, graduated from Wheaton College in June 1929, and is now teaching in the Junior High School at Lincoln, Mass. My daughter, Carol, now a junior in high school, has filed her application for Wheaton College and expects to enter in the fall of 1931.

"I have attended the N. E. A. Superintendents Convention for the past ten years — this year at Atlantic City. My summers are spent on Lake Winnepesaukee."

JAMES PURDON

SOcial NOTE: Mr. and Mrs. James Purdon of 87 Randolph Avenue, Milton, will leave about June 8 for Pocasset, where they will occupy the same cottage which they had last year. Mr. Purdon does not reply to Class notices.

OSCAR QUICK

Married: Carrie M. Brown at Cambridge, Mass., March 12, 1904.

Children: Marion, March 22, 1905.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 221 South 19th Ave., Maywood, Ill.; (business) Crane Technical High School, Chicago, Ill.

THERE are more evidences that Quick is not as "young as he used to be". His daughter, Marion, who was the principal exhibit five years ago, has been married and has presented him with a small granddaughter. Quick is reported as bearing up remarkably well under the event.

John Bertram Read

Married: Grace Mary Goodwin, Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21, 1897.

Children: John Bertram, Jr., July 1898; Eleanor Goodwin, Sept. 1899; Richard Welch, Oct. 1900.

Occupation: Broker.

Died: Cambridge, Mass., April 22, 1929.

JOHN BERTRAM READ died at Cambridge, Mass., on April 22, 1929, after an illness of some duration. Although in recent years he had been in the investment business, this was more by accident than design.

Immediately after his graduation from College, he joined his father, John Read, '62, in the well-known firm of William Read & Sons, dealers in firearms, etc., in Boston. On the death of his father, he succeeded to the management of the business and carried it on for some years, until he finally sold it. Then he connected himself with the brokerage firm of Jackson & Curtis and afterwards with Blyth, Witter & Company, bankers.

He was born in Cambridge, on December 10, 1870, and prepared at the Cambridge Latin School. In 1897 he married Grace M. Goodwin of Cambridge, who survives him with a daughter and two sons.

THAT old classic, "Silver Threads Among the Gold-er" will now be rendered by our friend, Billy Reed.

"Just getting older and more philosophical — that's all.

"One son attended Harvard a year and a half; another Northeastern; another M. A. C. — but none graduated. My daughter was graduated from Maryland College for Women in 1928 and Chicago Normal School of Physical Education in 1929."

CALE YOUNG RICE

Married: Alice Caldwell Hegan at Louisville, Ky., Dec. 18, 1902.

Occupation: Poet and Dramatist.

Address: 1444 St. James Court, Louisville, Ky.

FIVE years ago Rice went on record as saying that he hoped to have the problem of the Universe solved in time for our next Report — and verily he seems to have done it.

"Everything interests me hugely," he writes. "Hence I keep young and happy. The chief event of the past five years was the production last fall of a grand opera, 'Yolanda of Cyprus', based on my operatic drama of that name, with music by Clarence Loomis. I have also written two books: 'Early Reaping', a novel, and 'Seed of the Moon', some more poems. Two honorary degrees have been conferred upon me — LL.D. from the University of Kentucky and Litt.D. from Rollins College."

GEORGE SHERMAN STOUGHTON RICHARDS

Married: Katherine C. Dudley at New York, N. Y., March 29, 1902 (died Aug. 18, 1913).

Occupation: Minister.

Address: 210 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

SINCE our last Report George Richards has resumed his full ministry in the Episcopal Church. He is now on the staff of the clergy at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“During the past five years,” he writes, “I have been devoting the major part of my time to charity work on the East Side, visiting hospitals and taking up cases that needed special attention and financial aid. I still believe that one’s private income, after one’s own needs are provided for, should be used for those in our own class who will not ask for aid, but who can be assisted when one uses discretion in approach. It is a joy to me to be occupied in this way.”

GEORGE BURR RICHARDSON

Married: Irene Frances Dashiell at Birmingham, Ala., June 23, 1904. Children: Alice, Sept. 21, 1913.

Occupation: Geologist.

Address: (home) 3120 Newark St., Washington, D. C.; (business) U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

CELEBRATIONS are quite an ordinary occurrence to George Richardson. He writes:

“I celebrated my twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last year by taking a trip to Europe with my wife and daughter. We had a wonderful time. My only publications during the past five years have been a few short reports and papers on geology.”

HENRY HYSLOP RICHARDSON

Married: Elizabeth Lejée Perry at Newburyport, Mass., Oct. 6, 1906. Children: Henry Hyslop, Jr., Nov. 15, 1907; Juliet, Dec. 9, 1909; Charles Perry, June 3, 1911.

Occupation: Real Estate Operator (retired).

Address: Cottage St., Brookline, Mass.

MRS. RICHARDSON very obligingly filled out Henry’s questionnaire for him. Their elder son will graduate from Harvard this June.

RALPH CURTIS RINGWALT

Married: Desire Stockbridge at New York, N. Y., Oct. 8, 1910.

Occupation: Farmer and Writer.

Address: (home) 406 N. Main St., Mount Vernon, Ohio; (business) 6 S. Main St., Mount Vernon, Ohio.

CLASS RECORDS

RINGWALT is beginning to appreciate those years he spent at Harvard at their true value. How many other men in the Class are having a similar experience?

"Gradually," he begins, "I've withdrawn from most business interests except farming; I'm now more than ever engaged in raising pure-bred Guernseys. I do a good deal of reading, and a little writing. Education still interests me, and a couple of years ago I gave some courses in a neighboring college, Kenyon. More and more, though, I'm a sitter by the wayside, and in this role I'm increasingly grateful to the Harvard of our day, with its wide range of electives. Incidentally, I doubt whether greater specialization, better training as no doubt it is for the active years, is likely to bring so many resources to so many men after sixty."

EDWIN ARLINGTON ROBINSON

Occupation: Author.

Address: 328 East 42nd St., New York, N. Y.

THE brightest star in our firmament is, of course, Edwin Arlington Robinson. During the past five years he has kept on winning Pulitzer prizes and gold medals much as usual. His most recent volumes are "Collected Poems" and "Cavender's House".

GEORGE WASHINGTON ROBINSON

Married: Mary Bell Nickerson at Sugar Hill, N. H., Sept. 18, 1894.

Children: Weld Snell, July 30, 1895; Edmund Nathaniel, July 17, 1898; Hilda Violet, Nov. 20, 1899; Oliver Vincent, Nov. 9, 1901.

Occupation: Educator.

Address: (home) 18 Walker St., Cambridge, Mass.; (summer) R. F. D. No. 2, Meredith, N. H.

AFTER thirty years of service, Robinson resigned from his position as secretary to the Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences on September 1, 1928. He is now editing the "Winthrop Papers", an undertaking which has a particular significance this year on account of the tercentenary which Massachusetts is about to celebrate.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

“While looking through a catalogue of manuscripts in the British Museum,” Robinson writes, “I discovered the legal notebook of Governor John Winthrop, which makes possible a reconstruction of the chronology and history of his life during the period immediately preceding the great Puritan emigration to Massachusetts. The first volume of my work on the subject was published in 1929; the second volume I expect to have ready before the end of this year.

“In connection with the preparation of the second volume of these papers, I visited England in the summer of 1929. I also visited Holland, England and Scotland in the summer of 1926. My youngest son, Oliver, graduated from Harvard cum laude in 1925. My daughter, Hilda, received the degree of A. A. from Radcliffe in 1928.”

JOHN GEORGE ROBINSON

Married: Margaret Elizabeth Vermilye, Aug. 18, 1919. Children: John George, Jr., July 7, 1922; Elizabeth Southard, Feb. 6, 1924; Margaret Vermilye, Jan. 24, 1926.

Occupation: Minister.

Address: 103 East 196th St., New York, N. Y.

JOHN ROBINSON'S report really should have a page all to itself.

“On January 24, 1926,” he begins, “my family was augmented by the arrival of a daughter, whom we have named Margaret Vermilye.

“This is the only event of any importance. During the past five years I have been steadily engaged in visiting hospitals in New York City, as minister among Protestants of every creed.”

WILLIAM WALKER ROCKWELL

Married: Ethel Dean Converse at Brookline, Mass., Sept. 19, 1906. Children: Dorothy Converse, Aug. 24, 1915.

Occupation: Librarian.

Address: 3041 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

CLASS RECORDS

SINCE the first of July, 1925, Rockwell has been librarian of the Union Theological Seminary. Here, surrounded by a collection which is conceded to be the largest of its kind in the world, Rockwell dreams of books — and more books. His letter:

“My principal business is to administer a library in New York, with six miles of shelves; to lay out work for a staff of eleven library assistants, not to mention as many student helpers, and to answer (if I can) all sorts of questions put to me by letter, or in person by young men and women assiduously courting the higher academic degrees. There is also a very riot of discovering, importing and rendering available books printed in the last five centuries, with or without woodcuts, — some in rags and tatters of renaissance bindings — these chilly from the ocean voyage undertaken too soon after publication; but in any case, like Browning’s Old Yellow Book, the precipitates of human aspirations and passions. We bring them to America as a national service, that no youth shall need to cross the seas in search of any printed thought about God or duty. We lend them freely to libraries from coast to coast, provided the package will stand the perils of the parcel post. We classify and catalogue them, so that, as the ultimate custodian of two hundred and fifty-six thousand articles, nearly all different, my assistants can find in five minutes the one that you lack.

“My work reminds me of Major Barbara’s code, as Bernard Shaw depicts it; we furnish weapons to any man, ‘on the faith of an armourer’, so that the best may prevail. The conflict is not physical but intellectual and spiritual.

“My office windows look across a peaceful quadrangle to a Gothic chapel; and beyond the chapel to the soaring tower of the Riverside Church, soon to vibrate with the Rockefeller carillon; and beyond the tower, to the Hudson and to the clouds. On this outlook I deliberately turn my back, and dream of my library; and almost every steamer that comes from Europe has some parcel for us, which may, perhaps, throw new light even on quadrangle, chapel, church, tower and clouds. Who knows?

“As for fads, I am an ardent genealogist, a ‘country member’ of the Society of Genealogists (London). My father published a book tracing the Rockwells back to 1630; I have carried them back to 1560, and am following clues in Somerset and in London that run much further. As another diversion, I teach Latin Palaeography in Columbia University. Owing the Bedingfeld Book of Hours, illuminated in England about 1460, has led me frequently into the study of late Mediaeval Art.

“I taught Church History at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago during the summers of 1925 and 1927, and am to teach it this summer. Two years ago my wife and I traveled through Europe from Cherbourg to Constantinople, from Athens to Norway, and down through the British Isles, the chief thing for me being the sea-coast of Dalmatia and the five-year congress of European historians at Oslo. In 1929 I did a few days' work in England on the record of the Reverend John Warham of Windsor, Conn. (died 1670), and on his associates who came to Dorchester, Mass., in 1630 on the Mary and John. I also went to the Four Hundredth Anniversary of the religious colloquy between Luther and Zwingli at Marburg, Germany.”

Just as the Report is going to press word is received from Rockwell that the Theological Faculty of the University of Marburg has conferred upon him the honorary degree of Doctor of Theology. This is a distinction that has hardly ever before been conferred upon an American.

JOHN C. ROWE

Married: Anna Knudsen at New York, N. Y., April 24, 1912.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 468 Riverside Drive, N. Y.; (business) 30 Church St., New York, N. Y.

IT is about time Rowe took a vacation. His entire time is still being devoted to the practice of law.

ARTHUR JOSEPH RUSSELL

Married: Elizabeth Heard at Portsmouth, N. H., April 29, 1897; Margery Card at Portland, Ore., 1923. Children: Eleanor Heard, Feb. 7, 1898; Arthur Joseph, Jr., Dec. 11, 1903.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (home) 360 East 55th St., New York, N. Y.; (business)
11 East 44th St., New York, N. Y.

SINCE our last Report Russell has found Mr. Protest and Mrs. Protestine a little too much for him. He has given up innkeeping and gone back to architecture. Not satisfied with doing things by halves, he has also changed his residence from Seattle to New York City.

EDWIN WARNER RYERSON

Married: Adelaide Kendall Hamilton at Chicago, Ill., Dec. 6, 1904.

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: (home) 232 E. Walton Pl., Chicago, Ill.; (business) 122
S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

RYERSON was in College only two years, so he perhaps treasures an A. B. degree more than some of the rest of us.

"What degrees have I received?" he asks. "None. What have you to give? I should like an A. B. from Harvard if you have any to spare.

"But to speak of more serious things — in 1925 I was elected president of the American Orthopedic Association, and in 1927 I was made president of the staff of St. Luke's Hospital. I have been professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the Northwestern University Medical School since 1927."

HENRY AUGUSTUS LOW SAND

Occupation: Lawyer (retired).

Address: 27 West 44th St., New York, N. Y.

THERE has been no substantial change in Sand's life since our last Report.

ARTHUR BECKER SCHAFFNER

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 3957 Ellis Ave., Chicago, Ill.; (business) 120 S.
La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.

SEE Sand's Report.

CHARLES EDWARD SEAMAN

Married: Florence Leyden DePauw at Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 10, 1902. Children: Frances DePauw, April 14, 1905; Helen Rebecca, Oct. 4, 1907.

Occupation: Executive.

Address: 2151 Harvard Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

REVERSING the program of a number of us, Seaman has previously been retired, but is now active. He says:

“Since August 1926, I have been in active business. I am president of the Security Materials Company and the Associated Rock Company, both in Los Angeles.

“But I am interested principally in educational matters. I have been vice-president of the Board of Trustees of the University of Southern California and chairman of its Building Committee for several years. I find time for an occasional trip abroad. Both of my daughters were graduated from the University of Southern California in June 1928.”

FREDERICK EDMUND SEARS

Married: Mary Ellen Balch at Portland, Me., July 28, 1903. Children: Frederick Edmund, Feb. 8, 1905; Sarah Walker, Sept. 15, 1908 (died Sept. 19, 1908).

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H.

AUTHORSHIP has had a peculiar effect on Sears. Ever since he began to write books — text-books — he has eschewed other forms of literary effort. According to his statistics he has published two since our last Report: “Essentials of Physics” and a “Laboratory Manual in Physics (Revised)”. The only other item that the Secretary has been able to glean is that his son, Frederick, Jr., was graduated from Harvard in 1927.

WALTER EDWIN SEVERANCE

Married: Madeleine Fish at Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 18, 1907.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 2048 Market St., Harrisburg, Pa.; (business) Central High School, Harrisburg, Pa.

CLASS RECORDS

WE sometimes do receive our reward this side of heaven. Severance writes:

“In September 1926, I had the pleasure that sometimes comes to schoolmen, of opening a school in a new building, a better one than I had ever before worked in. This is the only event of any importance since our last Report.”

PHILIP PRICE SHARPLES

Married: Ruth Morison, Feb. 21, 1911 (died Feb. 3, 1924). Children: Anne, April 25, 1912; Mary, Jan. 4, 1914; Abby, July 30, 1917.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: 17 Farrar St., Cambridge, Mass.

FIVE years ago Sharples was boasting of the California climate. Now he seems to be as permanently settled in Cambridge. His letter:

“I returned from California in 1925, and was associated with George Woodbridge until his death. In 1927 I became one of the Trustees of the Harvard Housing Trust, to take charge of financing and building domiciles for married graduate students in Cambridge. We now have quarters for one hundred and seventy-three in Shaler Lane, Gibson Terrace and Holden Green.

“I served as president of the Cambridge Economy Club for 1928 and succeeded in keeping the club supplied with speakers for the winter. In 1928 I was elected director of the American Unitarian Association. Particularly, I have been interested in building houses and developing the vacant land in and around Holden Green, and in serving on various welfare and church organizations.”

CARLETON ANDERSON SHAW

Married: Julia Ward Richards at Gardiner, Me., Dec. 27, 1905.

Children: Henry, Nov. 17, 1906; Elizabeth, Oct. 16, 1908;

John Dyer, July 27, 1911; Robert Hallowell, July 20, 1914.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: Groton, Mass.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

SHAW wishes it definitely understood that he still possesses the same wife and same children. All signs indicate, however, that the end of his sovereignty is approaching.

“My eldest son was graduated from Harvard two years ago,” he notes, “and I expect the others to come along in due course. The most interesting event (to me) of the past five years was an automobile trip to the Western States and British Columbia in the summer of 1928.”

Robert Gould Shaw, 2d

Married: Nancy Langhorne at Greenwood, Va., Oct. 27, 1897 (divorced); Mary Hannington Converse at New York, N. Y., Feb. 1903. Children: Robert Gould, Aug. 28, 1898; Gould, April 12, 1904; Alexander, June 26, 1905; Louis Agassiz, April 24, 1908; Paul Agassiz, Aug. 26, 1912.

Occupation: Sportsman.

Died: New York, N. Y., March 29, 1930.

ROBERT GOULD SHAW, 2d, died in New York City on March 29, 1930. His death followed a brief illness with pneumonia. He was born at Jamaica Plain, Mass., on June 16, 1872, the son of Quincy A. and Pauline (Agassiz) Shaw, and prepared at Hopkinson's School, Boston. In 1897 he married Nancy Langhorne of Greenwood, Va. They were subsequently divorced, and in 1903 Shaw married Mary H. Converse, who survives. There are also one son by the first marriage and four sons by the second marriage.

Shaw was a noted sportsman and most of his time, when not following the season around, was spent in looking after the large farm he maintained in Newton Centre, Mass.

WILMON HENRY SHELDON

Married: Elisabeth Franc Dunham at Richmond, Ind., 1903. Children: Nancy Edwards, June 30, 1913; Sarah Morse, Feb. 6, 1919; Caroline Crocker, July 11, 1925.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: 151 Cold Spring St., New Haven, Conn.

“NOTHING new! Same old job,” Sheldon writes. And yet under his statistics we find the notation, “Caroline Crocker Sheldon, born July 11, 1925.”

CLASS RECORDS

WALDO HENRY SHERMAN

Married: Abbie Phillips at Sioux Falls, S. D., Aug. 17, 1893.

Occupation: Social Service Worker.

Address: 155 19th Ave., S. E., St. Petersburg, Fla.

SHERMAN's word of good cheer is still, "Come to the Sunshine City". He says: "I have been here since 1921, and I count myself fortunate to be able to live in this wonderful climate."

HERBERT ROLAND SIMONDS

Married: Margaret Ethel King at Dayton, Ohio, Jan. 5, 1909.

Children: Harriet King, May 21, 1910; Alvan Willard, Dec. 2, 1912.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: (home) Haver Rd., Dayton, Ohio; (business) Summit St. and Negley Pl., Dayton, Ohio.

FIVE years ago Simonds' report consisted of only one line. He has now succeeded in reducing that to the vanishing point. Let us hope that "no news" is good news indeed.

EDWARD SLADE

Married: Euphemia Tudor at Chestnut Hill, Mass., Sept. 26, 1896; Katherine Chase at Wilmington, Del., June, 1926. Children: Louise, May 22, 1897; Rosamond, April 9, 1898; Priscilla, April 29, 1910.

Occupation: Engineer.

Address: Harvard Club, New York, N. Y.

SLADE has done the only appropriate thing he could do in retaliation for conferring upon him the title of Class Grandfather.

"In June 1926," he says, "I was married to Miss Katherine Chase, of Wilmington, Del. I have one more grandchild to report — Rosamond Averill McDougall, who was born on September 11, 1929."

GEORGE LAWRENCE SMITH

Married: Charlotte Eliot at Gloucester, Mass., Sept. 5, 1903 (died Aug. 22, 1926). Children: Theodora Eliot, July 25, 1904; Charlotte Stearns, June 15, 1911.

Occupation: Architect.

Address: (home) Chaworth Farm, Millis, Mass.; (business) 220 Devonshire St., Boston, Mass.

SMITH did so well by us five years ago that we can forgive him for contributing only statistics to this Report. Perhaps he is conserving space for a longer letter in 1935.

HARRISON WILLARD SMITH

Occupation: Planter.

Address: (permanent) Tahiti, Society Islands; (temporary) Springfield, Me.

FOR various reasons, too numerous to mention, the Class Committee has decided not to stage the Thirty-fifth Reunion on Smith's plantation in Tahiti. How terribly sad, however, now that the durian trees are bearing!

"I continue to develop my little plantation in Tahiti," Smith writes, "which now begins to show results from the various new trees and plants that I have, in part, introduced. One of my durian trees is this year bearing fruit for the first time, and now has about fifteen fruits — the first of this marvelous fruit to grow in the South Pacific as far as I know. As soon as I have eaten the last of this year's crop, I shall depart joyously for the Thirty-fifth Reunion, since the Class has decided not to accept my invitation. Two nipa palms are now growing vigorously, giving indications that this very valuable plant can be established in the low islands.

"But for those of my Classmates who now, with advancing years, seek tranquility, I can recommend bee-keeping, even more than gardening — provided one has the right kind of bees. I began with a hive of black Italians common in the island. Tame, gentle, appreciative and sufficiently industrious, they seemed to like to have me about. One might almost say that they were inclined to be playful. As I failed to value these fine qualities of character and temperament, and thought only of efficiency, I brought from California last October two high-bred, yellow Italian queens. The progeny of those two birds is amazing. They do indeed produce honey at a rate per bee that I am sure has never before been equalled, but they are hustling and aggressive to an extent even greater than that of any son of that Golden State in which their parents were hatched. If I am so unfortunate as to disturb that hive some day when I haven't my armour on, I expect, when I come to, to find Hollywood tattooed in bee stings across my brow."

JEROME CARRUTH SMITH

Married: Ethel G. Simonds at Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 5, 1900 (died Dec. 30, 1922); Anne Morton at Fall River, Mass., Jan. 10, 1925. Children: Jerome C., Jr., Sept. 2, 1904 (died June 18, 1918); Herbert Farnsworth, March 9, 1906.

Occupation: Business Executive.

Address: (home) 290 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

"The one thing I regret," he said,

"Is that it cannot speak."

THE Secretary can sympathize with the gardener's feeling about the Middle of Next Week. He hasn't received a letter from Smith in ten years. According to his statistics, Smith is now treasurer of the Quincy Market Cold Storage and Warehouse Company, and president and treasurer of the Boston Terminal Refrigerator Company.

WILLIAM HEMANS SMITH

Married: Margaret Parsons Nichols at Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 31, 1904. Children: Delia Nichols, Aug. 10, 1905; Margaret Hemans, May 14, 1907; William Shepard, April 11, 1909; Marshall Parsons, Sept. 19, 1911; Content, March 4, 1916.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 114 S. Arlington Ave., East Orange, N. J.; (business) 320 S. Clinton St., East Orange, N. J.

SMITH has certainly devoted himself and his children to the service of education. He says:

"My two sons, William and Marshall, are in Harvard, classes of 1930 and 1932 respectively. Delia, my eldest daughter, graduated from Bryn Mawr in 1926. My second child, Margaret, graduated from Radcliffe in 1929.

“I was recently appointed principal of the first junior-high school in East Orange. My chief interest has been in trying to make modern ideals of education work in a public school system.”

LAIRD WINGATE SNELL

Married: Laura Mary Skinner at Westfield, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1900.

Children: William Wingate, Nov. 10, 1905; Laura Patterson, Nov. 15, 1908.

Occupation: Episcopal Clergyman.

Address: St. Andrews Vicarage, Ayer, Mass.

AFTER eight and a half years in a parish in Helena, Montana, Snell took charge, in December 1926, of St. Andrews Vicarage at Groton under Dr. Endicott Peabody.

“The West was thrilling,” he says. “Mrs. Snell and I wouldn’t have missed a bit of it. But the East was home.”

Frederick Stedman Snow

Married: Amy Louise Brooks at Lowell, Mass., June 12, 1899.

Children: Ruth, Jan. 1, 1901 (died Jan. 5, 1901); Ruth, Aug. 18, 1902; Stedman, Sept. 5, 1911.

Occupation: Physician.

Died: Roxbury, Mass., July 2, 1929.

FREDERICK STEDMAN SNOW’s death on July 2, 1929, was caused by a heart attack. He had practised medicine in Roxbury ever since his graduation from the Medical School. In addition to his private practice, he served on the staffs of the Boston Dispensary, the Tremont Dispensary, the Longwood Hospital, the Free Hospital for Women, and the Berkeley Infirmary, and was an examiner for the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York.

He was born at Boston on May 14, 1873, the son of Barna S. and Harriet (Jackson) Snow, and prepared for College at the Boston Latin School. In 1899 he married Amy Louise Brooks of Lowell; she survives him with a son and a daughter.

CLASS RECORDS

HENRY BENNING SPENCER

Married: Katharine Price at Louisville, Ky., April 30, 1902.
Children: Violet; Samuel.
Occupation: Business Executive.
Address: Munsey Bldg., Washington, D. C.

THE Secretary received quite a shock upon reading Spencer's letter, for until now he has never seen fit to divulge the fact that he had any children.

"Since our last Report," Spencer writes, "my daughter has presented me with a fine grandchild. My son is a member of the Harvard Class of 1933."

FRANK NICHOLAS SPINDLER

Married: Florence Winifred Hatch at Stevens Point, Wis., Dec. 23, 1908. Children: Nicholas Hatch, Aug. 11, 1913 (died Jan. 26, 1917); John Francis, June 14, 1916 (died Feb. 2, 1917); George Dearborn, Feb. 28, 1920.
Occupation: Teacher.
Address: (home) 1215 Clark St., Stevens Point, Wis.; (business) State Normal School, Stevens Point, Wis.

SPINDLER reports no change except that he has regained his health. No one could ask for better news than that.

JOSEPH LEWIS STACKPOLE

Married: Katharine Whiteside Brown at Highland Park, Ill., Oct. 16, 1899. Children: Joseph Lewis, July 20, 1902; Elizabeth, July 22, 1904; Richard, Sept. 8, 1911.
Occupation: Lawyer.
Address: (home) 292 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 84 State St., Boston, Mass.

WHEN urged to make public his experiences during the past five years, Stackpole was sorely tempted to use an expression rendered famous by one of the Vanderbilts. He contented himself, however, with a vigorous "No" after every question on the information blank. Let us hope that he will be in a more communicative mood at the Celebration.

WILLIAM EVERETT STARK

Married: Eleanor Parker Fiske at Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 3, 1899.

Occupation: College Dean.

Address: Hampton Institute, Hampton Roads, Va.

THE past five years have certainly been full of "occurrences" for William Stark. He says:

"Lost a job, lost twenty-five pounds, made a hole in one, discovered that Yankees thrive in a mild climate, confirmed previous observation that skin-color is not an expression of either intellect or character. Since 1927, have been Dean of the College at Hampton Institute."

EDWIN HARRISON STEEDMAN

Married: Almira McNeely at Haverford, Pa., Oct. 20, 1906.

Children: Almira McNeely, Aug. 18, 1909; infant boy, July 4, 1911 (died July 4, 1911).

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Address: (home) 32 Westmoreland Pl., St. Louis, Mo.; (business) Wellston P. O., St. Louis, Mo.

FIVE years ago Steedman was unwillingly approaching a prosperous old age. He seems to be more resigned to his fate now, for he says:

"Nothing of interest has happened. I am struggling to become old gracefully and to enjoy life doing it."

FRED M. STEIN

Married: Beatrice Borg at New York, N. Y., Nov. 26, 1903.

Children: Fred M., Jr., July 9, 1905; William Howard, June 25, 1911; Cecilia Borg, April 7, 1914.

Occupation: Banker (retired).

Address: (home) 15 West 75th St., New York, N. Y.; (business) 270 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

PRACTICALLY all of Stein's time, since his retirement a few years ago, has been devoted to public-health work. On January first of this year, he was made president of the Montefiore Hospital in New York.

HORACE NATHANIEL STEVENS

Married: Helen Coburn at Lowell, Mass., April 17, 1909. Children Mary Victoria, May 3, 1910; Horace Nathaniel, Jr., June 7, 1914; Helen Coburn, July 3, 1916.

Occupation: Commission Merchant.

Address: (home) 1415 Prospect Ave., Plainfield, N. J.; (business) 25 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

THE Secretary suspects Stevens of waiting for the follow-up system before writing a letter for the Report. How disappointed he must have been when he found that it wasn't being used this year.

"No changes," is all he reports.

ALEXANDER FRANCIS STEVENSON

Married: Karen Bolette Nielsen at Chicago, Ill., Feb. 7, 1910.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: (home) 1510 N. Dearborn Parkway, Chicago, Ill.; (business) 104 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

STEVENSON is still trying to keep down the death rate in Chicago. In spite of the recent casualties, he says that it has about the lowest death rate of any large city.

EDWIN TENNEY STIGER

Married: Marion Moore Noblit at Chadd's Ford, Pa., Oct. 25, 1904. Children: Roger Edwin (adopted), Dec. 1, 1923.

Occupation: Editor.

Address: (home) 27 N. Columbus Ave., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

STIGER has the same wife as he did five years ago, but that's about all. If this Report isn't up to the standard of the others, we shall certainly know the reason why.

"In 1927," Stiger writes, "I resigned from The University Press, with which I had been connected for about thirty years, and moved from Watertown, where I had been living, to Mount Vernon, N. Y., fifteen miles out of New York City. I am now associated with the printing and publishing house of William Edwin Rudge, whose printing plant is in Mount Vernon and whose New York office is at 475 Fifth Avenue.

“The youngster taken into our home, mentioned in our last Report, has now become an adopted son, Roger Edwin Stiger by name (born December 1, 1923), and he has more than done his part to make up for the loss of many old friends in making the move from Massachusetts to New York.”

RUFUS WHITTAKER STIMSON

Married: Helen Morris at Boston, Mass., Oct. 4, 1899.

Occupation: Educator.

Address: (home) Hotel Wadsworth, Boston, Mass.; (business) Department of Education, State House, Boston, Mass.

STIMSON is known as the “Father of the Home Project Plan” of teaching agriculture. In 1908 he opened at Northampton the first permanent vocational agricultural school in Massachusetts. Today his leadership in this particular field of education is recognized throughout the country. He says:

“Since our last Report, I have had the honor of lecturing on the project method every year in the Summer School of the Harvard Graduate School of Education. As editor of the Macmillan Agricultural Project Series, I have assisted in preparing: ‘Fruit Growing Projects’, by F. C. Sears, published in 1928; and ‘Farm Crop Projects’, by Burlison and Nolan, now in press. I have also taken on the job of ‘Special Instructor in Rural Problems’, during the spring term at the Simmons College School of Social Work; and assisting in Teacher-Training courses during the fall and winter terms and in the Summer School at the Massachusetts Agricultural College.

“As for recreation, I am now for the fourth year a member of Captain ‘Bart’ Stephenson’s team in the intercollegiate bowling tournament at the University Club of Boston, and am the proud possessor of two gold medals for helping to win the championships in 1927 and 1928. In the third tournament we were tied for first place with Dartmouth, and lost the roll-off 1550 to 1524, my own three-string total being 323. In spite of crowded roads, Mrs. Stimson and I find one of our pleasantest diversions in motoring, and take great delight in our Reo sedan."

ELMER EDGAR STOLL

Married: Harriet C. Agerter at Lima, Ohio, July 16, 1902.

Occupation: Professor.

Address: University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.

As usual Stoll refers us to the latest copy of Who's Who for pertinent information about himself. The only additions this time are two books, "Shakespear Studies" and "Poets and Playwrights", published in 1929.

JOHN PERCIVAL SYLVESTER

Married: Adelaide R. Edmands at Somerville, Mass., June 6, 1901.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: 46 Carlton St., Brookline, Mass.

SYLVESTER is now completely retired. He furnishes this note for the Report:

"My health has been good. I have lived about five months each year at Gloucester, Mass., and in the winters I've traveled considerably."

EDWARD CARROLL TABER

Married: Hazel Huiskamp at Keokuk, Ia., Dec. 4, 1912. Children: Edward Carroll, June 21, 1914; Sallie Britton, Dec. 20, 1915.

Occupation: Lumber Dealer.

Address: (home) 611 Grand Ave., Keokuk, Ia.; (business) 1220 Main St., Keokuk, Ia.

THE Secretary doesn't feel quite so discouraged about Taber this time. In addition to correcting his statistics, he says that he is director of the State Central Savings Bank of Keokuk, and president of the Keokuk Club.

HENRY RUSSELL TALBOT

Married: Mary Montgomery at Portland, Ore., April 7, 1910.

Occupation: Clergyman.

Address: 323 Jefferson Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

CHAPTER IV of Talbot's life has proved so pleasant that he hopes he will never have to turn to another page.

"Since the last Report," he says, "I have continued as Rector of the Church of the Epiphany at Rochester. When I spoke five years ago about the joys of intensive work, I did not exaggerate. I am busy and consequently happy."

ARTHUR WILSON TARBELL

Married: Edith Stone Kendall at Newton Centre, Mass., Oct. 1, 1902. Children: Donald Kendall, Nov. 8, 1903; Dorothy Jackson, Dec. 24, 1906; Sally Wilson, July 1, 1910.

Occupation: Educator and Dean.

Address: (home) 5090 Forbes St., Pittsburgh, Pa.; (business) Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa.

TARBELL looks upon the work of the past five years and calls it good. His letter:

"Campus grows richer in opportunities, and less critical of youth. One daughter married, another off to college, and a son at work away from home. Mother and Dad a bit lonely over the breakfast table, with family back to its original component parts. Elected a trustee of the First Unitarian Church of Pittsburgh. Still spending summers on Cape Cod getting lungs cleared of soot from the City of a Thousand Smokes. Have a book on the Cape nearly ready for press, having played with it for a decade. Am passing well, considering the sundry small vices that possess me."

ARTHUR PAGE TEELE

Married: Winifred Whittemore at Waltham, Mass., Feb. 12, 1900.

Children: Mary Page, Aug. 1, 1903; John Whittemore, June 25, 1905.

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: 11 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

NOTHING much has happened to Teele during the past five years — at least that's what he says. His daughter graduated from Radcliffe in 1925 and his son from the Harvard Engineering School in 1927.

VICTOR SUMNER THOMAS

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 700 N. Clayton St., Wilmington, Del.; (business) Du Pont Bldg., Wilmington, Del.

THOMAS is going to make his report verbally at the Celebration.

Dexter Tiffany, Jr.

Occupation: Naval Officer (retired).

Died: Rockland, Me., Aug. 19, 1929.

DEXTER TIFFANY, Jr., died at Rockland, Me., on August 19, 1929. Previous Class Reports give the details of his life so that it is unnecessary to recapitulate. The last the Class in general has known of him is the account that appears in the Report for our Thirtieth Anniversary, in which some quotations are given from a cheerful letter written to the Class Secretary, which would indicate that he was enjoying himself in Europe and was living at Compiègne, France.

During the nearly twenty years he spent in the United States Naval Service, mostly in the Paymaster's Department, it was only occasionally his Classmates saw him, and intimate details of his later years are not easy to get. We all, however, knew him in College, and whenever we have seen him since, we have found him in essential respects not unlike the individual we had learned to know during our years together at Cambridge. There was in him a certain robustness, not only physical, but mental and moral as well, which made change come slowly, and which enabled him to take life a good deal as it came. A Classmate who met him casually, or on whom he called if he blew into town, found he could take up life with Dexter about where he had left off at their last meeting. There are not many people of that sort, and there is something satisfactory about those who are.

He was a familiar figure during our life at Harvard and at the Class Reunions which he has attended since. It can be safely stated that he had the general respect and esteem of his Classmates and the affection of those who knew him at all intimately. At times he had a faculty of starting off on the wrong foot, but this the writer believes rather endeared him than otherwise, to those concerned in any event where it happened. It became quickly known as "only Dexter's way", and, while it sometimes caused confusion and inconvenience, it rarely, if ever, resulted in serious disaster. He himself took it so as a matter of course that the rest of us learned to take it in the same way.

His death will be a matter of deep regret to us all and we shall miss him at our Thirty-fifth and subsequent reunions.

A. W.

WILDER TILESTON

Married: Clare Williams at Chicago, Ill., Nov. 18, 1903 (died Jan. 14, 1905); Ethel Walker Smyth at New Haven, Conn., June 20, 1912. Children: Wildier, Jr., July 14, 1914 (died May 12, 1923); Thomas Newman, Oct. 13, 1916; Anna, Oct. 25, 1918; David Edsall, Jan. 14, 1922; Peter Ayer, Jan. 14, 1922.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: 15 Edgehill Rd., New Haven, Conn.

THE Secretary has made a mental note to see that Huntington and Tileston get together during the Celebration. A comparison of their two reports will tell the reason why. Tileston writes:

"Nothing very startling has happened to me lately. My wife and I made an extensive western trip last summer, including the Canadian Rockies and Alaska, and a pack-trip on mules in the high Sierras. During the years 1926 to 1929, I was chief-of-staff at the Grace Hospital in New Haven."

MARTIN BUEL TINKER

Married: Ethel Louise Bates at Clifton Springs, N. Y., May 4, 1905. Children: Martin, Jr., March 6, 1906; Alfred Bates,

CLASS RECORDS

March 21, 1909; Charity Marshall, April 16, 1912; Margaret, March 27, 1914 (died June, 1914).

Occupation: Surgeon.

Address: (home) Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N. Y.; (business) 404 Savings Bank Bldg., Ithaca, N. Y.

THE most important news Tinker has to contribute is that his elder son was graduated from Harvard in 1928 and that his other son is now a junior. In comparison with these facts, Tinker feels that whatever else he may say will sound very trivial.

"If you insist upon more," he adds, "I think it is since the last Report that I was elected chairman of the New York State section of the American College of Surgeons. I have also been active on several committees connected with the Medical Society of the State of New York. Boy Scouting has taken some of my time; I am chairman of the Court of Honor, president of the Local Council and representative to the National Council. At present I am Commander of the American Legion, Ithaca Post Number 221."

James Russell Trotter

Married: Persis Hagans Heermans at Kingwood, W. Va., Oct. 5, 1898. Children: Martha Elizabeth, Feb. 19, 1901; James Francis, Aug. 11, 1902; John Heermans, Feb. 17, 1904; Robert Russell, Feb. 23, 1915.

Occupation: Law Professor.

Died: Pittsburgh, Pa., July 5, 1925.

AT the time of his death, James Russell Trotter was teaching law in West Virginia University, where he had been since 1908. Previous to that period he had acted as State Superintendent of Free Schools in West Virginia and as regent of the University. He was the holder of numerous degrees, both from Harvard and West Virginia. In 1898 he married Persis Heermans of Kingwood, W. Va., who survives him with four children. He died at the Western Pennsylvania Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., on July 5, 1925.

HENRY DUBOIS TUDOR

Married: Eleanor Lyman Gray at Boston, Mass., June 10, 1905.

Children: Anne Elizabeth, July 8, 1906; John, Aug. 19, 1907 (died Aug. 19, 1929); Henry Owen, May 16, 1911.

Occupation: Lawyer and Financier.

Address: (home) Larch Road, Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 35 Congress St., Boston, Mass. (and) 24 State St., New York, N. Y.

READERS of these pastoral letters may have noticed that one subject keeps cropping up with all the persistence of King Charles' head in poor Mr. Dick's memorial. To that recurrent subject Tudor contributes his share.

"My daughter, Anne, was married two years ago to Robert Stinson of Baltimore," he says. "There is now one granddaughter, born May 4, 1929, who has been named after her mother."

JOHN FAIRFIELD VAUGHAN

Married: Ellen Thaxter Batchelor at Cambridge, Mass., 1902.

Children: Elizabeth Fairfield, June 12, 1903 (died Nov. 18, 1918); George Batchelor, March 3, 1905; Charles, March 18, 1906 (died Sept. 18, 1923); John Hallowell, May 2, 1911.

Occupation: Engineer.

Address: (home) 33 Fletcher Rd., Belmont, Mass.; (business) 44 School St., Boston, Mass.

VAUGHAN's troubles have just begun. He says: "I built a house in Belmont, Mass., and moved in during 1927. That is all for the present."

CARL SCHURZ VROOMAN

Married: Julia Green Scott at St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 28, 1896.

Occupation: Farmer and Publicist.

Address: 701 E. Taylor St., Bloomington, Ill.

SINCE our last Report Vrooman has turned cosmopolitan. He writes:

"My time has been divided between Illinois, Washington and Europe. Nothing especially exciting has happened to me or mine. I am spending the winter writing and playing golf at Wilmington, N. C."

ROBERT WALCOTT

Married: Mary Tuckerman Richardson at Boston, Mass., Oct. 12, 1907. Children: Mary, Oct. 2, 1908; Robert Richards, Jan. 24, 1910; John Cotton, Feb. 24, 1912; Maurice Richardson, Nov. 4, 1915.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 152 Brattle St., Cambridge, Mass.; (business) 910 Barristers Hall, Boston, Mass.

INSTEAD of letting up as the years go by, Walcott is ever on the lookout for new opportunities of activity. Since our last Report he has added the presidency of the Cambridge Savings Bank to the many other organizations he serves in a similar capacity. Strangely enough he still finds time to play.

"I spent the summer of 1928 on a Montana ranch studying a new line of birds and flowers," he writes. "Last summer with my wife, daughter and Buick, I explored England, before leaving my daughter in France to take her junior year at Smith College studying at the Sorbonne. We first left her at Grenoble, however, to study eight weeks before going up to Paris. Her landlord there was a dealer in snake skins, for women's shoes principally. My wife and I found an ideal spot on the Lake of Geneva, and on our return learned that its merits were discovered independently the week following by Dick Wheatland."

HENRY PICKERING WALKER

Married: Katherine Alice Sanman at Salem, Mass., April 30, 1907. Children: John Grimes, Oct. 6, 1909 (died Oct. 8, 1909); Henry Pickering, Jr., Feb. 8, 1911.

Occupation: Farmer (retired).

Address: 1470 Beacon St., Brookline, Mass.

IF it's any consolation to Walker, the company he now finds himself in is a very select one. He writes:

"Little has happened to me except that my son, H. P. W., Jr., is now a freshman at Harvard, and that I, along with a few others, survived the stock panic."

PAUL WASHBURN

Married: Mary Louise Brown at Boston, Mass., April 27, 1897; Isabel Dix Fisher at Los Angeles, Calif., March 10, 1920. Children: Paul Carruth, Jan. 4, 1898; Dorothy Morehead, Oct. 13, 1899; Sarah Henshaw, Dec. 22, 1921 (died Dec. 22, 1921).

Occupation: Trust Officer.

Address: 975 Dale St., Pasadena, Calif.

PAUL WASHBURN has received another promotion. He is now trust officer of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Pasadena. The title that is nearest his heart, however, is of a different nature.

“My commission as Lieutenant Colonel in the Quartermaster Reserves,” he writes, “will expire February 21, 1930, and I shall renew for another five years, with or without increased rank. I am a firm advocate of adequate national defence.”

GEORGE ARTHUR WATERMAN

Married: Mrs. R. E. Forrest, 1912.

Occupation: Physician.

Address: 250 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

WATERMAN had to reply “No” to all the Secretary’s questions. In recompense for which, he added the following comment:

“A pretty colorless list of answers. Nevertheless, even without acquisition of honors, fame or fortune, they have been happy years. I only regret not having the opportunity to see more of my Classmates.”

Frederick Webb

Married: Amy Sophronia Longmore, Longmore, Ariz., Oct. 16, 1906. Children: Robert Blennerhassett, July 10, 1907 (died Sept. 26, 1907); Amy Fredericka, May 1, 1911; Esmond Blennerhassett, Oct. 14, 1914; William George, March 24, 1917.

Occupation: Chemist.

Died: Neuilly, France, Dec. 31, 1926.

FREDERICK WEBB died at Neuilly, France, on December 31, 1926. He was a metallurgist and had formerly been engaged in recovering gold and silver from the tailings of old mills in Nevada. He had also lived in Arizona, and had spent several years in European travel. In 1906 he married Amy S. Longmore of Longmore, Ariz. They had four children, one of whom died in infancy.

ALFRED SIGISMUND WEILL

Married: Louise Steele Young at Germantown, Pa., Nov. 14, 1901.

Children: Louise, Nov. 14, 1905.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 201 W. Chestnut Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.; (business) 1240 Land Title Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

THE Secretary suggests that it would probably be wiser for Weill not to leave this edition of the Class Report lying around in his office.

"I have been spending so much of my time in travel," Weill writes, "that if my partners ever learn that I have reported 'not retired from business', they will probably insist on having at least one 'day in court'. My most ambitious recent trips were Egypt in 1928 and Russia in 1929."

SAMUEL WEILL

Married: Bertha N. Stein at Rochester, N. Y., April 19, 1899.

Children: Rita, July 28, 1908; Samuel, Jr., Dec. 22, 1916.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: 164 St. Paul St., Rochester, N. Y.

SAMUEL WEILL has decided that there is quite a difference between business and retirement. In reply to the question, Have you changed your occupation, he says:

"Decidedly! I retired from the presidency of the Stein-Bloch Company in January 1926. There is nothing else to tell you."

RICHARD WHEATLAND

Married: Mary Kemble Robinson at Salem, Mass., June 2, 1896.

Children: Stephen, March 29, 1897; David Pingree, May 13, 1898; Lucia Pickering, June 26, 1899; Anna, Oct. 12, 1900; Martha, Nov. 26, 1903.

Occupation: Manager of Timberlands.

Address: (home) Cedar Hill, Topsfield, Mass.; (business) P. O. Box 305, Salem, Mass.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

THE competition between Wheatland and the Secretary for first honors in the Grandfather class is very keen. At the present writing honors are even, with six apiece, although the Secretary can boast more grandsons than can Wheatland. Like the Secretary, nothing else has happened to Wheatland. He writes:

“Outside of my grandchildren I have nothing to report. I have been living in Boston and Topsfield with my family, taking several trips to Europe during part of the summer months.”

EDITOR'S NOTE: An unbiased check shows that Wheatland has one more grandchild than the Secretary.

John Thomas Whicher

Married: Helen Loring Stearns, Brookline, Mass., April 5, 1913.

Children: Anne, Oct. 12, 1917.

Occupation: Bond Broker.

Died: Brookline, Mass., June 29, 1926.

JOHN THOMAS WHICHER died June 29, 1926, of cerebral hemorrhage at his home in Brookline, Mass. Although he had not been in good health for some months, he did not give up his brokerage business until shortly before his death. He was married and had one daughter.

SAMUEL PEREGRINE WHITE

Married: Helen Torrey Andrén at Beverly, Mass., June 27, 1904.

Children: Helen, Oct. 15, 1907; Peregrine, Oct. 24, 1911.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 42 Washington St., Beverly, Mass.; (business) 50 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

THINGS are looking up with Sam White. He says: “I am happy to have something to contribute to this Report. My daughter was graduated from Smith in 1928. My son was graduated from Andover in 1929, and is now enrolled in the freshman class at Harvard.”

CLASS RECORDS

ALEXANDER WHITESIDE

Married: Ethel Stockton at Boston, Mass., May 10, 1909. Children: Thomas, April 7, 1910; Howard Stockton, June 2, 1912.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 233 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.; (business) 30 State St., Boston, Mass.

THE Secretary was very much tempted to make Whiteside's letter serve a double purpose by printing it in the front of the Report as a Foreword. It expresses so well what most of us would like to say when in despair we jot down: "Nothing of any consequence."

"Five years more to record for our Class Report, and a review of these years leaves me little to say for myself. I do not seem to have made much material progress, and I have unquestionably deteriorated physically. My joints are just a little stiffer and I do not seem to need as much exercise as I used to think essential. Also doctors' and dentists' bills seem to be more frequent.

"I feel more hopeful mentally and morally. I think I have learned more in these five years than I did in the previous thirty. It is all such A B C stuff, however, that I am amazed I did not learn it twenty-five or thirty years ago. Indeed, I am surprised that some of it was not born in me. In spite of the fact that this newly acquired knowledge makes me seem different to myself, I have no doubt my Classmates will think I am just about the same proposition I was in 1895.

"Some of those whom we have loved are here no more. Billy Patten is among them. His death to me was a great grief, for I knew him well.

"It has just occurred to me this is not a cheerful document, but must we not remember that we are definitely on the down grade? We can get some comfort from the thought that in the gradual descent before us, we shall at times reach lovely little peaks from which we can still see some of the glory.

"While I do not yet seem to have hit a joyous note, it seems to me that after all, if we take them right, the next twenty or twenty-five years may be just as happy as any we have spent. We won't have the same excitement, but neither shall we be so constantly hoping for the impossible."

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

RAYMOND LEE WHITMAN

Married: Florence H. Hood at Longwood, Mass., April 12, 1899.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: Hamilton, Mass.

THE only thing Whitman has ever asked of life, he has finally attained — public office.

“I am now commissioner and tax assessor for the Town of Port Sewall, Fla.,” he says. “At last my merits are being recognized.”

HOLMES WHITMORE

Occupation: Minister.

Address: (home) 296 Knapp St., Milwaukee, Wis.; (business) 501 Colby-Abbot Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

“AT the same old stand” means something in Whitmore’s case. He writes:

“It may be of interest to some that next year will complete fifty years of the rectorship of three Harvard men over my Parish, St. Paul’s — the second oldest Episcopal Church in the State of Wisconsin. I doubt if another church in the country can show such a record — a half century under the leadership of Harvard men! It ought to be pretty good and it is — even if I do say so myself!”

HOWARD WHITMORE

Married: Helen Waterston Hinkley at Cambridge, Mass., May 18, 1903. Children: Miriam; Howard, Jr.; Holmes Hinkley.

Occupation: Lawyer.

Address: (home) 54 Carver Rd., Newton Highlands, Mass.; (business) 50 Federal St., Boston, Mass.

HOWARD WHITMORE’S chief endeavor continues to be to grow older (not old) peacefully and gracefully.

“Aside from this pursuit,” he says, “nothing of importance has happened to me. My elder son was graduated from Harvard last year. My daughter was married to Ensign (now Lieutenant) Edward K. Walker (U. S. N.), on October 8, 1927. Since January 1928, they have lived in Honolulu, where my son-in-law is attached to the submarine base.”

MYRON WILLIAM WHITNEY, Jr.

Married: Grace Tomlinson Train at Washington, D. C., April 17, 1907.

Occupation: Musician.

Address: (home) 1642 Connecticut Ave., Washington, D. C.; (business) 1406 H St., Washington, D. C.

No people in the world, we venture to observe, are asked as many questions as the American people. If it isn't the census taker, or the Literary Digest, it's one's own Alma Mater.

Myron Whitney has decided to take a firm stand in the matter. "Nothing!" he replied emphatically to all the Secretary's pleas.

JAMES KELSEY WHITEMORE

Married: Elizabeth Deblois Lane, at Weston, Mass., June 27, 1906.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 45 Lincoln St., New Haven, Conn.; (business) Yale University, New Haven, Conn.

"MAY I bring all my sweethearts to the Reunion?" Whittemore wants to know. "They have interested me, but nothing much has happened."

The Secretary for one is entirely willing. He can think of nothing that would so completely assure the success of the Celebration.

PARKER WILLIAMS WHITEMORE

Married: Grace Jones Sinclair at Portsmouth, N. H., Jan. 1, 1896.

Occupation: Manufacturer (retired).

Address: (home) 29 Hereford St., Boston, Mass.; (summer) Cole's Island, West Gloucester, Mass.; (business) 1314 Statler Bldg., Boston, Mass.

PARKER WHITEMORE has not yet recovered from his historic effort in our Thirtieth Report. All that he contributes this time is the fact that he has "practically" retired.

HARVARD '95 — REPORT VIII

ALFRED SAMUEL WILLIAMS

Married: Maude Frances Keller at Newton, Mass.; Jan. 15, 1902.

Children: Jasper Keller, Nov. 2, 1902 (died Oct. 30, 1919);

Imogene Elizabeth, April 3, 1904 (died April 6, 1904).

Occupation: Woolen Manufacturer.

Address: (home) 112 Mt. Vernon St., Boston, Mass.; (business)
68 Essex St., Boston, Mass.

WILLIAMS says that during the past five years he has made no hits and no runs. However that may be, he has certainly made no errors. His letter:

“Nothing of public interest has happened to me. I have been following along in the same old rut. My wife and I have adopted two girls, aged six and eight, whose father and mother, both dear friends of ours, had died. They constitute our main interest.”

JAMES HUNT WILLIAMS

Married: Carrie D. Fox at Elmira, N. Y., June 30, 1896. Children:

Frederick Fox, Oct. 18, 1897; Theodore, May 23, 1902 (died March 1, 1913); Mary Goodnow, Jan. 16, 1906.

Occupation: Real Estate Agent (retired).

Address: 145 W. Main St., Norwalk, Ohio.

How much more satisfactory grandchildren are than one's own children! Then a mere matter of twins is only an added blessing. Witness James Williams:

“The births of our grandchildren have been the outstanding events of recent years. The advent of any grandchild is an event, but it is a tremendously greater event when that expected grandchild happens to be two grandchildren. Ours, of course, beat the world. A few days ago another little boy came and so it will not be long before three of them will be calling me ‘grandad’ and the Mrs. ‘granny’.”

WILLIAM BURNS WOLFFE

Married: Ella Frances Hanlon at New York, N. Y., Sept., 1897

(divorced); Beatrice Morris at London, Eng., Dec., 1910. Children:

CLASS RECORDS

Occupation: Underwriter.

Address: (home) Mountain Lakes, N. J.; (business) 30 Broad St., New York, N. Y.

FIVE years ago Wolffe noted that the benefits of experience were coming to him later in life than to most men, and that the next decade would probably mean more than all the preceding years. To show that he was in earnest, he reports the following:

“My third son, whom we have named Peter deForest, was born on August 26, 1926. My residence now is at Mountain Lakes, N. J. I have become interested in the development and financing of large timber properties on the Pacific Coast.”

WILLIS PATTEN WOODMAN

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 808 Main St., Geneva, N. Y.; (business) Hobart College, N. Y.

OF course it is useless to advise Woodman to “go thou and do likewise”. He writes:

“I can only ditto what I said in the last Report in regard to the routine of my life. I have spent three of the five summers in agreeable trips to Europe, with sojourns in Britain, France and Spain. Yeames' marriage this summer broke up our ménage à deux and I am again reduced to unmitigated and desperate bachelorhood. It is pleasant, however, to have another refuge at his nearby hearth.”

Herbert Richardson Woods

Married: Aline Griffin, New York, N. Y., Dec. 15, 1897. Children:

Emily Edey, April 30, 1905; Aline Greenleaf, May 16, 1908.

Occupation: Manufacturer.

Died: New York, N. Y., March 13, 1930.

HERBERT RICHARDSON WOODS died in New York City on March 13, 1930. Except for two years immediately after his graduation, his entire business career was spent in New York. In 1898 he took charge of the New York office of Joseph W. Woods & Sons Company, of which his father was the head, and he retained that connection for many years. More recently he had been in the advertising business.

He was born at Boston, on October 9, 1872, the son of Joseph W. and Caroline F. (Fitz) Woods, and prepared at Stone's School. In 1897 he married Aline Griffin of New York City. She survives him, with two daughters. Three brothers also survive — Joseph F. Woods, Professor James H. Woods, '87, and Arthur Woods, '92, — and a sister, Mrs. Philo W. Sprague.

BEN JAMES WORMAN

Married: Ama Mahalla Atkinson, Albany, N. Y., April 28, 1897 (died July 8, 1929). Children: Virginia King, May 1, 1898 (died Dec. 20, 1928); Elliot Parker, May 1, 1901.

Occupation: Banker.

Address: (home) R. F. D. No. 1, Westport, N. Y.; (business) Main St., Westport, N. Y.

CARL DREYFUS visited Worman last fall and reports him as looking cheerful and prosperous. He hopes to get back for the "Thirty-fifth".

ALVIN WORTHAM

Married: Edna Frances Edell, New York, N. Y.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: 15 East 35th St., New York, N. Y.

THE Secretary would not be at all surprised to hear that Wortham was a lineal descendant of Rip Van Winkle. This is the first time that he has been heard from in twenty years. Unlike Rip, however, he knows just what he has been doing during all that time.

"I have changed my occupation to the teaching of fine arts," he says. "I have also been married to Edna Frances Edell of New York City."

Robert Duffield Wrenn

Married: Grace Stackpole Dabney at Nahant, Mass., June 1905 (died March 25, 1906). Children: Grace Dabney, 1906.

Occupation: Stockbroker.

ROBERT DUFFIELD WRENN was born at Highland Park, Ill., on September 20, 1872, the son of George Lawson and Eliza (Everts) Wrenn. He prepared for College at the Cambridge Latin School. During the four years in Harvard he was a prominent figure not only in athletics but in every other form of college activity, and after graduation he maintained his interest in Class affairs as a member of the Class Committee. His business career did not really begin until 1900 when he went into the banking and brokerage business with his two brothers in New York, under the firm name of Wrenn Brothers and Company. He maintained an active interest in its affairs until 1922, when he was forced to retire on account of ill health. His death occurred three years later and was caused by Bright's disease. He left one child, a daughter; his wife, who was Grace Dabney of Boston, died following her daughter's birth.

Bob Wrenn was one of the outstanding figures of his college generation. His prominence was national. Of all the tributes occasioned by his death, perhaps the most comprehensive was the address which George T. Adee, representing the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, made upon the unveiling of a tablet in Wrenn's memory at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, N. Y., on September 17, 1926. On the opposite page will be found a facsimile of the tablet and Mr. Adee's speech follows:

"Bob Wrenn was a great athlete and a great executive. He played quarterback on the Harvard football team, second base on the Harvard baseball nine, coverpoint on the St. Nicholas hockey team. He won the national singles tennis championship in 1893-4-6-7, and the doubles championship in 1895. He represented the United States in both the singles and doubles on the Davis Cup team in 1903. He served the United States Lawn Tennis Association well and faithfully for thirty-two years, and gave to it unstintingly of his time and labor with no thought of reward. He was a member of the executive committee of the association from 1900 to the day of his death, November 12, 1925, vice-president from 1902 till 1911, and president from 1911 to 1915. He guided the affairs of this association with rare tact, good judgment, and unfailing loyalty, steadfastly maintaining the highest ideals of amateur sport — and yet in spite of the time he gave to sport, his ability and his industry had made him successful in business. He was a soldier in two wars — as a private in the Rough Riders under Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, he charged up San Juan Hill in the Spanish War, and at the age of forty-three he was commissioned a major of aviation in the World War, flying his own machine and commanding a squadron of aeroplanes.

“But it is not so much because of these deeds that the United States Lawn Tennis Association honors him. No — not so much for what he did, but because the compelling charm of his personality, his unflinching courtesy and fairness, his abiding respect for the rules of the game, his quick, clear thinking and instantaneous decisions, his resourcefulness, his aggressive attack, his steadfast courage, his dogged determination in competition both on and off the athletic field, his inborn patriotism, and his readiness to make the supreme sacrifice at his country’s call make him a splendid example of the spirit of amateur sport.

“Modest, unassuming and genuine, his life was a vital contribution to sport of his time and generation. His death will not stay the inspiration of his work nor break the bond of affection of his friends.”

HERBERT HILARION YEAMES

Married: Grace Evelyn Trowbridge at Arlington, Mass., July 21, 1904 (died March 6, 1922); Dora Canburn at London, Eng., Sept. 14, 1929.

Occupation: Teacher.

Address: (home) 808 Main St., Geneva, N. Y.; (business) Hobart College, Geneva, N. Y.

THE reports that these school teachers submit make us green with envy. Yeames is responsible for the following:

“My summer travels seem about the only thing worth mentioning: in 1929 a cruise to Iceland and the North Cape, and about the coasts of Norway, Sweden, Esthonia, Finland and Denmark, with a pleasant sojourn in the south of England — London, Somerset, Devon and Cornwall; in 1928 a trip to England, Scotland, Belgium and Holland; in 1927, with Woodman, to Northern Spain, France and England; in 1926 a futile attempt to 'see America first'; and in 1925 a memorable tour of France, followed by a visit to England."

FREDERIC YORSTON

Occupation: Editor and Publisher.

Address: (home) 9 New Sherbrooke Apartments, Montreal, Can.;
(business) 177 St. James St., Montreal, Can.

UNFORTUNATELY the Secretary was unable to obtain the usual quota of newspaper clippings about Yorston for this Report. He himself only supplies the information that he received the honorary degree of LL.D. from Dalhousie University in August 1929.

John Dixon Yost

Occupation: Major, U. S. A. (retired).

Died: San Francisco, Calif., Nov. 29, 1926.

AFTER graduating from the Medical School, John Dixon Yost entered the Medical Corps of the United States Army. He served with distinction in the Philippines and various other posts until he retired in 1918 with the rank of Major. He died at San Francisco, Calif., on November 29, 1926.

WILLIAM STERLING YOUNGMAN

Married: Helen Isabel Yerxa at Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21, 1903.

Children: William Sterling, Jr., May 25, 1907; Sarah Emory, April 11, 1910.

Occupation: Lieutenant Governor.

Address: (home) 39 Willeston Road, Brookline, Mass.; (business) State House, Boston, Mass.

YOUNGMAN is the one grand exception in this Report. When you reach the eminence of the Lieutenant-Governorship of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, you don't need to supply information about yourself — everything is known anyway. Moreover, being generally the guest of honor, you seldom have to pay for your Class dinners either.
